Mail Strike Crumbles; Blount To Negotiate

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, encouraged by the fast crumbling mail strike, called postal union leaders in today to start negotiating a pay raise.

Striking workers were returning to their jobs by the tens of thousands and mountains of stacked-up mail were melting away in such key cities as Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit. Mail was moving today in northern Ohio after striking postal workers in Cleveland and Akron voted Tuesday night to return to work. Toledo postal employees who were off the job a short time Tuesday returned to work after being served with a federal court injunction. Cleveland area mail held up since last Wednesday probably will be delivered today or Thursday, said Cleveland Postmaster Elmer E. Forsberg. He said first-class and air mail will receive top priority. Cleveland postal employees were called in on overtime to help get the mail moving.

"But," he added, "it will be at least two weeks before we see daylight on all incoming mail." With postal workers back in most cities and federal troops manning the post offices in New York City, post offices affected by the wildcat strike were expected to be flooded with incoming mail. It was estimated that in Cleveland alone there were about 50 million pieces of mail in storage and awaiting movement. In Akron, there had been a prevailing sentiment to return to work. A federal court order from U.S. District Court in Cleveland helped prod the striking Akron postal workers to vote to return to their jobs.

Postal workers in the Akron suburb of Barberton also voted to return to their jobs. The only major holdout, the 6,700-member Manhattan-Bronx letter carriers local that started the week-old illegal strike, was ordered by a federal judge to return to work by 5 p.m. EST or start paying fines of $10,000 each day.

Federal troops ordered up by President Nixon Monday were still working in the New York City offices allowing some service there. Brooklyn's letter carriers, the second major New York local involved in the strike, broke ranks and voted Tuesday night to return to work Tuesday. As workers returned to their jobs in Detroit, Newark, St. Paul-Minneapolis and Westchester, N.Y., Blount announced at a hastily called news conference Tuesday night he would meet with leaders of all seven major postal unions to begin negotiating a pay raise if the back-to-work trend continued. He said he hoped a settlement could be worked out in less than five days but said he was setting no time limit. Optimism for a settlement also was generated Tuesday when Congress broke a three-month deadlock over postal pay and agreed to a House-Senate conference on bills that could

Tractor-Trailer Truck Hit By Penn-Central Train

The third railroad crossing accident within a week occurred at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday on Houston Street.

James Phillip Lemaster, 32, 928 S. Court St., the driver of a tractor-trailer truck that was hit by a Penn-Central switch engine, escaped serious injury in the mishap according to Circleville Police.

LEMASTER said he heard no train whistle or bell. The train engine hit the trailer, flipping the rig over onto its side. The trailer was demolished and heavy damage was done to the truck.

Only minor damage was done to the engine. Kenneth Glick, 53, Lancaster, the engineer said that he had sounded the whistle as he approached the crossing and the bell was working.

He told police that Lemaster pulled the truck onto the tracks in front of him and he could not stop the train in time to avoid a collision.

Last Saturday 80-year-old Michael Binkley was seriously injured when his car was struck by a train on the Pickaway Street crossing of the Norfolk and Western Railroad. A patient in University Hospital, Columbus, he is listed in "satisfactory" condition by authorities there.

Last Friday, Mrs. Helen Selin and her son Jeff escaped serious injury when the car she was driving was struck at the S. Scioto Street crossing of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

IN another accident investigated by Police at 11:40 p.m. Tuesday, a car operated by Joseph Heeter, 31, 176 Hayward Ave., hit a car driven by Jerry Lee Colburn, 20, New Holland in the rear. The accident occurred at Court and High Streets, where Colburn was stopped for a light.

Heeter was cited for driving while intoxicated by Circleville Police.

Saturday Is Easter Egg Hunt Day

The annual Kiwanis-sponsored Easter Egg Hunt will be held Saturday morning in Ted Lewis Park. Twenty-five hundred chocolate filled plastic Easter eggs will be hidden in the park area and rain or shine, the hunt will begin 9 a.m.

Children will be divided into three classes — under four years of age, 2. ages five to eight 3. ages nine to 12.

For the children who participate in the hunt, there will be 35 specially-marked eggs hidden in the park. These eggs will be worth between 25 cents and $1.00 in cash.

Co-chairmen of this year's event are Kiwanians Bill Fischer and Millard Dern.

Red Attack Inside Laos Beaten Off

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Several hundred North Vietnamese troops attacked a Laotian government position five miles north of the Long Cheng base today but were beaten back with the help of AC47 gunships, informed sources said.

Sources said the North Vietnamese force, believed made up of two battalions, attacked the position about 4 a.m. but withdrew two hours later.

Laotian casualties were described as light. North Vietnamese losses were not immediately known.

Just 24 hours earlier, North Vietnamese troops attacked two other government positions in the same area, 85 miles north of Vientiane, including one with a radio beacon used to guide aircraft into the Long Cheng airfield.

One position was captured by the North Vietnamese, but government artillery and gunships pounded them and they withdrew. Government troops reoccupied the post.

The outposts were located along a six-mile ridgeline north of Long Cheng, the headquarters of Gen. Vang Pao's army of Meo tribesmen.

One source said the North Vietnamese were making nightly probes against Long Cheng while trying to build up their supplies, possibly for a large-scale attack on the vital base.

Israel Claims Win In Big Air Fight With Egyptians

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel's pilots claimed their biggest victory in more than six months over the Egyptian Air Force today, reporting four Egyptian MIG21s shot down in dogfights over the Suez Canal area.

The Israeli military command said all Israeli planes returned safely.

It was the Israeli fliers' highest score against Egypt since last Sept. 11, when 11 Egyptian planes were claimed. Three MIG21s were reported shot down in one day on Feb. 26.

During the night Israeli jets hit antiaircraft batteries 15 miles inside Egypt in an hour-long attack. A spokesman said the planes also hit other "military objectives" during the raid and returned safely.

In other action, the Israelis reported three armed Arab guerrillas were killed in a clash with Israeli troops near the Lebanese border Tuesday night. A spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties.

A spokesman in Beirut for the Palestinian guerrillas said one guerrilla was killed today when persons in a Lebanese village fired on a funeral procession for three commandos shot in a gun battle in Beirut Tuesday.

The procession was on its way to Jordan when it came under fire in the village of Kahale, in the foothills east of Beirut. The Palestinian spokesman said village leaders apologized for the shooting and the incident was considered closed.

The three guerrillas, who were buried in Amman, were killed in a battle in Beirut touched off by a police attempt to arrest some cigarette smugglers.

Diplomats in San'a, Yemen's capital, reported that relations may be improving between the Yemeni Republic and the neighboring kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Bank of America, the nation's largest, cut its prime interest rate to 8 per cent from 8½ Wednesday as it and others quickly followed a move announced by Irving Trust Co., one of the nation's major banks.

Irving became the first large bank to roll back the basic or lowest rate which banks charge their biggest and most credit-worthy customers, like big corporations.

The 8½ per cent rate prevailed at major banks since last June when the Federal Reserve Board clamped down on the nation's money supply in an attempt to curb inflation.

Long Fight Over Wages Flares Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prediction of a widespread walkout by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization failed to materialize today on the basis of early reports from some of the nation's major airports.

Robert C. Stugill, PATCO public affairs officer, said "initial indicators" pointed to a widespread walkout by its members.

However, instances of what might be considered significant controller absences were relatively few. Elsewhere, conditions appeared normal.

In Islip, L.I., a New York City suburb, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman at the Long Island-MacArthur Airport said about half of the 140 air traffic controllers had reported sick.

At Oberlin, Ohio, Keith Muir, chief of the FAA's air route control center, said about 50 of the center's 150 controllers scheduled to work today called in sick. He said their absences would cause "some restrictions to air service."

About 30 per cent of the normal complement of 20 controllers at Miami International Airport called in sick but a spokesman for the FAA, John Graffias, said replacements were being summoned.

Normal operations were reported at Chicago's O'Hare Airport where, a spokesman said, only two of 33 men scheduled to work the day shift called in sick.

The situation was similar at Washington's National Airport and also at nearby Dulles and Friendship International. Operations at all three were apparently normal.

In Detroit, 20 controllers scheduled to work, six phoned in sick. At Tampa, Fla., an FAA supervisor said all controllers reported for work on time.

At Hopkins International Airport in Cleveland a full complement of controllers scheduled to work was reported.

Report U.S. Plans Major Viet Cuts

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration hopes to reduce the number of American troops in South Vietnam by more than half during the next 15 months, the New York Times reports.

Quoting ranking government officials, the paper said in today's editions that the government planned to turn over full responsibility for ground combat to the South Vietnamese during this period.

The officials reported the administration's proposed budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 has been written on the basis of these plans, according to the Times.

They said the budget assumes the current 454,000-man American force in Vietnam will be reduced to 225,000 men by mid-1971. This is expected to save $6 billion to $7 billion in the coming fiscal year.

The Times said that after the planned pullout the remaining U.S. forces would be composed largely of air, artillery and supply units. A small number of combat troops would be retained to protect U.S. bases.

Officials at the Pentagon, the State Department and the White House emphasized that the administration's plans were based on an expectation that enemy combat in Vietnam would continue at a low level, the Times said. In the case of a major enemy offensive, the plans would be expected to be changed.

Brooke differed with the distinction Nixon drew between neighborhood and official segregation, saying "segregation which is the product of state and local law or of discriminatory patterns in housing and employment is still discrimination."

Nixon specifically endorsed the concept of the neighborhood school, and ruled out busing for the sake of racial balance in the classroom.

His message de-emphasized the role of federal enforcement officials, and stressed that of local school boards.

Advancing his federal aid proposal—similar to one embodied in a civil rights law five years ago—Nixon said the first $500 million would be used to

Nixon School Message Gets Mixed Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern senators were disappointed, civil rights leaders skeptical, Northern Democrats silent and most Republicans pleased over President Nixon's 8,000-word statement on school desegregation policy.

The Tuesday statement declared official segregation "must be eliminated root and branch," but held de facto or neighborhood segregation is not a target for federal enforcement.

Dixie senators said the President's stand all but eliminated freedom of choice for parents of school children in the South, foreshadowing hard times for the region.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., sources of strength in the South in 1968, said Nixon, then candidate, supported the freedom of choice approach to desegregation.

"Many voters supported him because of this," Thurmond said. "I spoke out strongly for Mr. Nixon because of this. It is now clear that we will not have freedom of choice."

But, Thurmond said, it would have been worse under another administration. He said he will offer a constitutional amendment legalizing freedom of choice.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, however, said the statement was straightforward. "I don't think this message has a Northern strategy or a Southern strategy in it," he said. "I think it is a national message in which the President has bitten the bullet..."

Nixon proposed spending $1.5 billion during the next two years to improve the quality of education for children in schools segregated because of neighborhood patterns.

He said both kinds of segregation exist in the South and North and called for equal application of the law nationwide.

Civil rights leaders were cool generally. "It looks like another Nixon maneuver to pacify the South politically," said Isaac Williams, field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in South Carolina.

Jack Greenberg of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund in New York said, since the proposed $1.5 billion will not be used for busing school children, "the main weight of the funds will be toward maintaining the segregated status quo."

The promise of funds encouraged some school officials, although many declined immediate comment.

"If we can obtain some of the money he promised, he will make it possible for us to deal with some of our critical problems," said Dr. Allen Smith, deputy superintendent of schools in Georgia.

"It sounds like an offer of the kind of encouragement we need—financial," a spokesman for the Chicago Board of Education said.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., the Senate's only Negro member, praised the school aid plan, and said he welcomed Nixon's unequivocal commitment to the enforcement of Supreme Court desegregation decisions.

Brooke differed with the distinction Nixon drew between neighborhood and official segregation, saying "segregation which is the product of state and local law or of discriminatory patterns in housing and employment is still discrimination."

Mail Strike Crumbles; Blount To Negotiate

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, encouraged by the fast crumbling mail strike, called postal union leaders in today to start negotiating a pay raise.

Striking workers were returning to their jobs by the tens of thousands and mountains of stacked-up mail were melting away in such key cities as Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit. Mail was moving today in northern Ohio after striking postal workers in Cleveland and Akron voted Tuesday night to return to work. Toledo postal employees who were off the job a short time Tuesday returned to work after being served with a federal court injunction. Cleveland area mail held up since last Wednesday probably will be delivered today or Thursday, said Cleveland Postmaster Elmer E. Forsberg. He said first-class and air mail will receive top priority. He said he hoped a settlement could be worked out in less than five days but said he was setting no time limit. Optimism for a settlement also was generated Tuesday when Congress broke a three-month deadlock over postal pay and agreed to a House-Senate conference on bills that could boost postal wages as much as 11.1 per cent. But Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee, injected a note of caution, saying "This crisis is not over. This crisis hinges on the ability of the administration to negotiate a settlement down town." McGee said only then or unless negotiations break down should Congress pass any bill. The strikers demanded a 40 per cent pay boost to a range of $8,500 to $11,700 a year from the present $6,176-$8,442 range. But Congress holds the purse strings and it can go no higher than 11.1 per cent without restarting the time-consuming pay bill procedure. The first major strike in the Post Office Department's 195-year history had spread to the six-state New England area and Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Wisconsin. At the strike's peak, more than 180,000 of the nation's 750,000 postal workers were off the job. But strikers began going back to work over the weekend and then started returning by the thousands Tuesday. The embargo of mail to New York City was partially lifted by Blount Tuesday night as sol-

Tractor-Trailer Truck Hit By Penn-Central Train

The third railroad crossing accident within a week occurred at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday on Houston Street. James Phillip Lemaster, 32, 928 S. Court St., the driver of a tractor-trailer truck that was hit by a Penn-Central switch engine, escaped serious injury in the mishap according to Circleville Police.

Lemaster had just finished picking up a load of feed at the Ralston Purina Plant. He told police that he was east bound on Houston Street and had to stop on the track because of traffic in front of him. LEMASTER said he heard no train whistle or bell. The train engine hit the trailer, flipping the rig over onto its side. The trailer was demolished and heavy damage was done to the truck. Only minor damage was done to the engine. Kenneth Glick, 53, Lancaster, the engineer said that he had sounded the whistle as he approached the crossing and the bell was working. He told police that Lemaster pulled the truck onto the tracks in front of him and he could not stop the train in time to avoid a collision. Last Saturday 80-year-old Michael Binkley was seriously injured when his car was struck by a train on the Pickaway Street crossing of the Norfolk and Western Railroad. A patient in University Hospital, Columbus, he is listed in "satisfactory" condition by authorities there. Last Friday, Mrs. Helen Selin and her son Jeff escaped serious injury when the car she was driving was struck at the S. Scioto Street crossing of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

Saturday Is Easter Egg Hunt Day

The annual Kiwanis-sponsored Easter Egg Hunt will be held Saturday morning in Ted Lewis Park. Twenty-five hundred chocolate filled plastic Easter eggs will be hidden in the park area and rain or shine, the hunt will begin 9 a.m. Children will be divided into three classes — under four years of age, 2, ages five to eight 3, ages nine to 12. For the children who participate in the hunt, there will be 35 specially-marked eggs hidden in the park. These eggs will be worth between 25 cents and $1.00 in cash. Co-chairmen of this year's event are Kiwanians Bill Fischer and Millard Dern.

Red Attack Inside Laos Beaten Off

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Several hundred North Vietnamese troops attacked a Laotian government position five miles north of the Long Cheng base today but were beaten back with the help of AC47 gunships, informed sources said. Sources said the North Vietnamese force, believed made up of two battalions, attacked the position about 4 a.m. but withdrew two hours later. Laotian casualties were described as light. North Vietnamese losses were not immediately known. Just 24 hours earlier, North Vietnamese troops attacked two other government positions in the same area, 85 miles north of Vientiane, including one with a radio beacon used to guide aircraft into the Long Cheng airfield. One position was captured by the North Vietnamese, but government artillery and gunships pounded them and they withdrew. Government troops recaptured the post. The outposts were located along a six-mile ridgeline north of Long Cheng, the headquarters of Gen. Vang Pao's army of Neo tribesmen. One source said the North Vietnamese were making nightly probes against Long Cheng while trying to build up their supplies, possibly for a large-scale attack on the vital base.

South Viet Rangers Kill 64 Reds In Major Battle

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese rangers today reported 64 enemy troops killed in their second major battle in five days in the Plain of Reeds. A government communique said the rangers' casualties were "light over all." The fighting broke out Tuesday afternoon in the northern part of the plain about two miles from the Cambodian bor-

Israel Claims Win In Big Air Fight With Egyptians

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel's pilots claimed their biggest victory in more than six months over the Egyptian Air Force today, reporting four Egyptian MIG21s shot down in dogfights over the Suez Canal area. The Israeli military command said all Israeli planes returned safely. It was the Israeli fliers' highest score against Egypt since last Sept. 11, when 11 Egyptian planes were claimed. Three MIG21s were reported shot down in one day on Feb. 26.

During the night Israeli jets hit antiaircraft batteries 15 miles inside Egypt in an hour-long attack. A spokesman said the planes also hit other "military objectives" during the raid and returned safely. In other action, the Israelis reported three armed Arab guerrillas were killed in a clash with Israeli troops near the Lebanese border Tuesday night. A spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties.

der and 60 miles west of Saigon. The rangers had the help of armored personnel carriers, artillery and fighter-bombers. Government spokesmen said the ranger battalion captured an antiaircraft machine gun and seven rifles. Last Friday, the rangers raided a bunkered enemy camp about a mile closer to the border. They said they killed 68 of the enemy, but (22) of the government troops were killed and 16 were wounded. Government forces have claimed several significant victories in the same area since Dec. 3, when an outnumbered force of local militiamen mauled a North Vietnamese-Viet Cong force that attacked Tuyen Binh, a district town nine miles southwest of Tuesday's battlefield. American troops were involved in only minor skirmishes Tuesday, the U.S. Command said, but it reported 36 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in several scattered contacts. The U.S. Command said an Army OH6 light observation helicopter was shot down and destroyed in Phuoc Long Province Tuesday. Spokesmen said there were no casualties. It was the 19th helicopter lost since March 10. In the political arena, the Supreme Court decided to review the case of National Assemblyman Tran Ngoc Chau, who was sentenced by a military court earlier this month to 10 years in prison for contacts with a Viet Cong agent, his brother.

Long Fight Over Wages Flares Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prediction of a widespread walkout by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization failed to materialize today on the basis of early reports from some of the nation's major airports.

Robert C. Stugill, PATCO public affairs officer, said "initial indicators" pointed to a widespread walkout by its members. However, instances of what might be considered significant controller absences were relatively few. Elsewhere, conditions appeared normal.

In Islip, L.I., a New York City suburb, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman at the Long Island-MacArthur Airport said about half of the 140 air traffic controllers had reported sick.

At Oberlin, Ohio, Keith Muir, chief of the FAA's air route control center, said about 50 of the center's 150 controllers scheduled to work today called in sick. He said their absences would cause "some restrictions to air service."

About 30 per cent of the normal complement of 20 controllers at Miami International Airport called in sick but a spokesman for the FAA, John Graffias, said replacements were being summoned.

Normal operations were reported at Chicago's O'Hare Airport where, a spokesman said, only two of 33 men scheduled to work the day shift called in sick.

The situation was similar at Washington's National Airport and also at nearby Dulles and Friendship International. Operations at all three were apparently normal.

In Detroit, 20 controllers scheduled to work, six phoned in sick. At Tampa, Fla., an FAA supervisor said all controllers reported for work on time.

At Hopkins International Airport in Cleveland a full complement of controllers scheduled to work. (Continued on Page 2)

Report U.S. Plans Major Viet Cuts

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration hopes to reduce the number of American troops in South Vietnam by more than half during the next 15 months, the New York Times reports.

Quoting ranking government officials, the paper said in today's editions that the government planned to turn over full responsibility for ground combat to the South Vietnamese during this period.

The officials reported the administration's proposed budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 has been written on the basis of these plans, according to the Times.

They said the budget assumes the current 454,000-man American force in Vietnam will be reduced to 225,000 men by mid-1971. This is expected to save $6 billion to $7 billion in the coming fiscal year.

The Times said that after the planned pullout the remaining U.S. forces would be composed largely of air, artillery and supply units. A small number of combat troops would be retained to protect U.S. bases.

Officials at the Pentagon, the State Department and the White House emphasized that the administration's plans were based on an expectation that enemy combat in Vietnam would continue at a low level, the Times said. In the case of a major enemy offensive, the plans would be expected to be changed.

Rail Union Raps Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The general vice president of a shopcraft union blocking settlement of the 15-month-old rail contract dispute has urged Congress to reject President Nixon's request to impose a binding settlement. John W. O'Brien, general vice president of the AFL-CIO Sheet Metal Workers International Association, said Tuesday the railroad's proposal threatened the jobs of his men by broadening a work rule interpretation. "We have been lied to, cheated and double crossed. We are tired of it, and we will not lie down passively and see the destruction of our union," he told the House Commerce Committee.

The sheet metal workers union was the only one of four shopcraft unions voting against management's latest contract offer. Congress postponed a scheduled strike for 37 days last March 4, pending consideration of Nixon's request to impose the terms of the rejected settlement. O'Brien said railroad negotiators had agreed to limit a proposed rule allowing craft unions to cross jurisdictional lines to "running repairs" locomotive shops. But later management negotiators declared the rule would apply to all departments, he said.

Nixon School Message Gets Mixed Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern senators were disappointed, civil rights leaders skeptical, Northern Democrats silent and most Republicans pleased over President Nixon's 8,000-word statement on school desegregation policy. The Tuesday statement declared official segregation "must be eliminated root and branch," but held de facto or neighborhood segregation is not a target for federal enforcement. Dixie senators said the President's stand all but eliminated freedom of choice for parents of school children in the South, foreshadowing hard times for the region. Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., sources of strength in the South in 1968, said Nixon, then candidate, supported the freedom of choice approach to desegregation. "Many voters supported him because of this," Thurmond said. "I spoke out strongly for Mr. Nixon because of this. It is now clear that we will not have freedom of choice." But, Thurmond said, it would have been worse under another administration. He said he will offer a constitutional amendment legalizing freedom of choice. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, however, said the statement was straightforward. "I don't think this message has a Northern strategy or a Southern strategy in it," he said. "I think it is a national message in which the President has bitten the bullet."

Nixon proposed spending $1.5 billion during the next two years to improve the quality of education for children in schools segregated because of neighborhood patterns. He said both kinds of segregation exist in the South and North and called for equal application of the law nationwide. Civil rights leaders were cool generally. "It looks like another Nixon maneuver to pacify the South politically," said Isaac Williams, field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in South Carolina. Jack Greenberg of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund in New York said, since the proposed $1.5 billion will not be used for busing school children, "the main weight of the funds will be toward maintaining the segregated status quo." The promise of funds encouraged some school officials, although many declined immediate comment. "If we can obtain some of the money he promised, he will make it possible for us to deal with some of our critical problems," said Dr. Allen Smith, deputy superintendent of schools in Georgia. "It sounds like an offer of the kind of encouragement we need — financial," a spokesman for the Chicago Board of Education said. Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., the Senate's only Negro member, praised the school aid plan, and said he welcomed Nixon's unequivocal commitment to the enforcement of Supreme Court desegregation decisions. Brooke differed with the distinction Nixon drew between neighborhood and official segregation, saying "segregation which is the product of state and local law or of discriminatory patterns in housing and employment is still discrimination." Nixon specifically endorsed the concept of the neighborhood school, and ruled out busing for the sake of racial balance in the classroom. His message de-emphasized the role of federal enforcement officials, and stressed that of local school boards. Advancing his federal aid proposal—similar to one embodied in a civil rights law five years ago—Nixon said the first $500 million would be available by July 1. (Continued on Page 2)

Pollution Of Scioto River Presents Serious Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a three-part series on pollution of the Scioto River, especially as it concerns Circleville and Pickaway County. Information for the series came from F. D. O'Hara, works engineer of the Du Pont Plant; Don Archer, conservationist, Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District; Chuck Taylor, Circleville public utilities manager; Richard Christensen, president, Pickaway County Board of Health; Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian.

By BETTY DAWLEY
Herald Staff Writer

The Scioto River is the longest waterway completely within the boundaries of Ohio, draining an area of 6,510 square miles.

The river basin extends from the vicinity of Kenton and Galion through Columbus and on to the Ohio River at Portsmouth. Approximately 45-50 miles of its 235-mile course is within Pickaway County.

The major population centers of the river valley are Columbus, Marion, Chillicothe, Delaware and Circleville.

The Scioto is a small sluggish river flowing for the first 100 miles of its course through a flat glacial till plain. Until the stream reaches Columbus, waste discharges to the Scioto are not sufficient to seriously pollute the water.

THE condition of Scioto River waters that enter Pickaway County largely depends upon the treatment given wastes in Columbus where over 60 per cent of the entire population of the basin over one million persons is located.

North of the city of Columbus, waters from Griggs and O'Shaughnessy Dams are impounded to serve as water supply for the city's population and industry.

The flow of the river through Columbus is principally overflow of the two dams and the Olentangy River confluence that merges with the Scioto in mid-city.

South of Columbus, treated wastes of the city are discharged into the slow moving stream as it flows into Pickaway County.

Unlike Columbus which impounds water to serve as a water supply for the city, none of Scioto waters are used as a public water supply in Pickaway County. Locally, consumers are served by wells.

Of importance to the Scioto River Valley Story are the tributaries of Hargus, Walnut and Darby Creeks in Pickaway County.

TREATED waste discharges from the village of Ashville into Walnut Creek, from Knollwood Village into Hargus Creek and agricultural soil runoff into all waterways play a part in the area waste loading the Scioto.

The City of Circleville, Du Pont, Logan Elm Village and Quality Courts Motel in

Pickaway County discharge treated wastes to the Scioto River.

All municipalities and industries that empty wastes into the Scioto must first obtain a permit from the Ohio Department of Health for such discharge.

A permit is issued only after a sewage treatment plan and design is approved by the engineering department of the State Department of Health. All permit holders are required to analyze their waste flow and report findings monthly to the department of health.

Any pollution control directives for additional treatment or to reduce waste load of the permit holder result from the monthly reports.

Motorist Found Guilty

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb reduced the charges against a McArthur man in Wednesday's session.

Norman F. Robinson, 42, an electrical contractor for a McArthur firm, was arrested by the Highway Patrol for driving while intoxicated and scheduled into court today. Judge Lamb found the man innocent of the OMVI charge but judged him guilty of reckless operation and fined him the maximum $50 fine. He was also sentenced to a one year probation period.

In other court action, Donald Frazier, 37, of 430 Ruth Ave. was found guilty of speeding 70 in a 60 mile zone and fined $10 and costs. The fine was suspended.

Wayne Vanhoushe, 45, Ashville, forfeited $60 bond for reckless operation by failing to appear in court.

work reported for duty. Allan Hamamey, president of the PATCO local, said its members were sympathetic to the walk-out but added: "This isn't a significant enough incident for us to go out on strike."

But the airport's tower said that even with all controllers on hand, walkouts and slowdowns elsewhere could cause flight backups in Cleveland.

Traffic towers at Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston said none of their controllers had walked out. And, at Los Angeles International, the FAA said no one had left work at the scheduled 8 a.m. EST. beginning of the walkout. The next shift change, the airport said, would occur at 11 a.m. EST.

The FAA also reported normal conditions at New Orleans, Omaha, Neb., Indianapolis, Ind., and Milwaukee.

Sturell, the PATCO spokesman in Washington, predicted "a severe dissipation of air traffic" as a result of the walkout.

But airline officials said they were confident they could maintain limited flight service.

Five Appear On Juvenile Court Docket

Rickey E. Haubeil 17, of Chillicothe, was the lone juvenile traffic offender in Juvenile Court. The youth was arrested in Pickaway County for speeding 75 in a 60 mile zone and fined $10. Judge Guy Cline suspended the fine and put Haubeil under restricted driving privileges for 30 days.

A 17-year-old boy, charged with delinquency in the theft of 4½ cases of pop bottles from Koch's Sohio station early this month, was sentenced to eight days in detention under the supervision of Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Two 16-year-old Circleville High School students appeared on charges of truancy. They were ordered to complete 100 hours of community work and spend one weekend in detention. Both boys were placed on probation for three years.

An Ashville man was charged with contributing to the delinquency of his five children and was judged unfit to care for them. The children, aged 12, 11, 9, 8 and 6, were placed in the custody of the Pickaway County Children's Service. The father was ordered to arrange for their support.

Clothes And Money Taken In Burglary

Burglars ransacked a Scioto Township home Tuesday evening while the owner was working in a garage on a nearby lot.

David Estep, Route 2, Orient, told Pickaway Deputy Earl Kuhn he had left the house unlocked while he worked in a neighbor's garage.

He returned to find the house ransacked and clothes and money missing. Value of the missing items was $135.

High Winds Delay Atom Bomb Test

PAHUETE MESA, Nev. (AP) — high winds forced postponement today of the United States' 500th announced nuclear blast, a bomb more powerful than hydrogen bombs previously exploded here at the Nevada Test Site.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the shot, code-named Project Handley, has been tentatively rescheduled for 7 a.m. Thursday. The decision on going ahead with the test will be made later today after a weather briefing.

Foes Chip At Carswell Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Harrold Carswell's opponents are continuing to chip away at his Supreme Court nomination with increasing assaults on what the critics say is at best a lackluster record as a federal judge.

The growing emphasis on Carswell's bench record was reflected by a news conference called today by two opposition leaders, Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., to compare his judicial performance with other Southern judges.

Although early criticism was aimed in the main at Carswell's background on race, particularly a 1948 political speech avowing white supremacy, there has been a noticeable shift of late to his judicial record.

The opponents contend a mediocre or worse performance is reflected by what they say is a higher than average rate of reversals of his decisions.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., told newsmen there now are 40 to 45 senators against confirmation.

One major switch on the Republican side might be enough to bring about Carswell's defeat, he said.

But Republican Leader Hugh Scott said he saw nothing to indicate that Carswell will be rejected.

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, also told newsmen "I think the vote is all right."

Mike Mansfield, who has declined to say how he stands, said Carswell supporters still seem to have the edge but it is "approaching a horse race."

Supporters counterattacked Tuesday with charges anti-Carswell senators are conducting a filibuster.

Bayh denied he and other opponents were filibustering and said public sentiment against confirmation is mounting because of the Senate debate.

Actual debate on the nomination was being held in abeyance while the Senate worked on a multimillion-dollar education bill but will resume later this week.

A vote is not expected until after April 1 or 2, at the earliest.

The only source of help for the new Cambodian regime at the moment is the United States.

Washington, far from wanting to become involved in a third war in Indochina, has been trying to extricate itself gradually from the other two in Vietnam and Laos. Popular opinion in the United States would be unlikely to welcome widened American involvement.

People who worry about such matters note an increasing mood of American isolationism, a growing American unwillingness to commit the country any deeper either to policing or to solving the world's problems.

Should the movement be launched in Cambodia, where there are now reported to be at least 40,000 North Vietnamese troops and many Viet Cong guerrillas, the Cambodian army would probably come out a poor second without substantial outside help.

Gen. Lon Nol, who overthrew Sihanouk and installed a new chief of state is reported to be relying on the assumption that the ousted ruler has support only among the peasants, with no organizational base. This

Pollution Of Scioto River Presents Serious Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a three-part series on pollution of the Scioto River, especially as it concerns Circleville and Pickaway County. Information for the series came from F. D. O'Hara, works engineer of the Du Pont Plant; Don Archer, conservationist, Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District; Chuck Taylor, Circleville public utilities manager; Richard Christensen, president, Pickaway County Board of Health; Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian.

By BETTY DAWLEY
Herald Staff Writer

The Scioto River is the longest waterway completely within the boundaries of Ohio, draining an area of 6,510 square miles.

The river basin extends from the vicinity of Kenton and Gallon through Columbus and on to the Ohio River at Portsmouth. Approximately 45-50 miles of its 235-mile course is within Pickaway County.

The major population centers of the river valley are Columbus, Marion, Chillicothe, Delaware and Circleville.

The Scioto is a small sluggish river flowing for the first 100 miles of its course through a flat glacial till plain. Until the stream reaches Columbus, waste discharges to the Scioto are not sufficient to seriously pollute the river.

THE condition of Scioto River waters that enter Pickaway County largely depends upon the treatment given wastes in Columbus where over 60 per cent of the entire population of the basin over one million persons is located.

North of the city of Columbus, waters from Griggs and O'Shaughnessy Dams are impounded to serve as water supply for the city's population and industry.

The flow of the river through Columbus is principally overflow of the two dams and the Olentangy River confluence that merges with the Scioto in mid-city.

South of Columbus, treated wastes of the city are discharged into the slow moving stream as it flows into Pickaway County.

Unlike Columbus which impounds water to serve as a water supply for the city, none of Scioto waters are used as a public water supply in Pickaway County. Locally, consumers are served by wells.

Of importance to the Scioto River Valley Story are the tributaries of Hargus, Walnut and Darby Creeks in Pickaway County.

TREATED waste discharges from the village of Ashville into Walnut Creek, from Knollwood Village into Hargus Creek and agricultural soil runoff into all waterways play a part in the area waste loading the Scioto.

The City of Circleville, Du Pont, Logan Elm Village and Quality Courts Motel in

Pickaway County discharge treated wastes to the Scioto River.

All municipalities and industries that empty wastes into the Scioto must first obtain a permit from the Ohio Department of Health for such discharge.

A permit is issued only after a sewage treatment plan and design is approved by the engineering department of the State Department of Health. All permit holders are required to analyze their waste flow and report findings monthly to the department of health.

Any pollution control directives for additional treatment or to reduce waste load of the permit holder result from the monthly reports.

Long Fight

(Continued from Page 1.) work reported for duty. Allan Hamamey, president of the PATCO local, said its members were sympathetic to the walk-out but added: "This isn't a significant enough incident for us to go out on strike."

But the airport's tower said that even with all controllers on hand, walkouts and slowdowns elsewhere could cause flight backups in Cleveland.

Traffic towers at Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston said none of their controllers had walked out. And, at Los Angeles International, the FAA said no one had left work at the scheduled 8 a.m. EST. The next shift change, the airport said, would occur at 11 a.m. EST.

The FAA also reported normal conditions at New Orleans, Omaha, Neb., Indianapolis, Ind., and Milwaukee.

Sturivill, the PATCO spokesman in Washington, predicted "a severe dissipation of air traffic" as a result of the walkout. But airline officials said they were confident they could maintain limited flight service.

Five Appear On Juvenile Court Docket

Rickey E. Haubell 17, of Chillicothe, was the lone juvenile traffic offender in Juvenile Court. The youth was arrested in Pickaway County for speeding 75 in a 60 mile zone and fined $10. Judge Guy Cline suspended the fine and put Haubell under restricted driving privileges for 30 days.

A 16-year-old boy, charged with delinquency in the theft of 4½ cases of pop bottles from Koch's Sohio station early this month, was sentenced to eight days in detention under the supervision of Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Two 16-year-old Circleville High School students appeared on charges of truancy. They were ordered to complete 100 hours of community work and spend one weekend in detention. Both boys were placed on probation for three years.

An Ashville man was charged with contributing to the delinquency of his five children and was judged unfit to care for them. The children, aged 12, 11, 9, 8 and 6, were placed in the custody of the Pickaway County Children's Service. The father was ordered to arrange for their support.

Clothes And Money

Taken In Burglary

Burglars ransacked a Scioto Township home Tuesday evening while the owner was working in a garage on a nearby lot.

David Estep, Route 2, Orient, told Pickaway Deputy Earl Kuhn he had left the house unlocked while he worked in a neighbor's garage.

He returned to find the house ransacked and clothes and money missing. Value of the missing items was $135.

High Winds Delay Atom Bomb Test

PAHUTE WINDS, Nev. (AP) — high winds forced postponement today of the United States' 500th announced nuclear blast, a bomb more powerful than hydrogen bombs previously exploded here at the Nevada Test Site.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the shot, code-named Project Handley, has been tentatively rescheduled for 7 a.m. Thursday. The decision on going ahead with the test will be made later today after a weather briefing.

Foes Chip At Carswell Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Harold Carswell's opponents are continuing to chip away at his Supreme Court nomination with increasing assaults on what the critics say is at best a lackluster record as a federal judge.

The growing emphasis on Carswell's bench record was reflected by a news conference called today by two opposition leaders, Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., to compare his judicial performance with other Southern judges.

Although early criticism was aimed in the main at Carswell's background on race, particularly a 1948 political speech avowing white supremacy, there has been a noticeable shift of late to his judicial record.

The opponents contend a mediocre or worse performance is reflected by what they say is a higher than average rate of reversals of his decisions.

Sen. John D. Tydings, D-Md., told newsmen there now are 40 to 45 senators against confirmation.

One major switch on the Republican side might be enough to bring about Carswell's defeat, he said.

But Republican Leader Hugh Scott said he saw nothing to indicate that Carswell will be rejected.

Mike Mansfield, who has declined to say how he stands, said Carswell supporters still seem to have the edge but it is "approaching a horse race."

Supporters counterattacked Tuesday with charges anti-Carswell senators are conducting a filibuster.

Bayh denied he and other opponents were filibustering and said public sentiment against confirmation is mounting because of the Senate debate.

Actual debate on the nomination was being held in abeyance while the Senate worked on a multimillion-dollar education bill but will resume later this week.

Laws, Old And New

One age's laws may produce another age's repealers. Thus the New Jersey State Senate has started weeding from statute books some old prohibitions that were proper to earlier times but have little relevance now.

Like riding a horse while drunk or putting water used for ice harvesting by throwing dead animals into it.

After voting to repeal many such laws, the Senate then turned to current legislation and may have created some similar work for a future legislature by passing a bill making it illegal to cross a highway with a center divider anywhere but at a crosswalk where there's a break in the divider.

Highway design being a fast-changing area, that's the kind of law that, a century hence, appropriate as it may seem in 1970, may cause some puzzlement — and a call for repeal — when some researcher stumbles on the problem of figuring out what a pedestrian was, anyway.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Is inflation more acceptable than recession? Some evidence suggests the Nixon administration believes so. It has, at least, taken a sudden turn toward spending rather than saving.

In late January the President vetoed an appropriation bill for health, education and antipoverty programs. It was, he said, $1.3 billion more than the budget request for the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

"I believe the action is in the long-range interests of better education and improved health care," the President told the American people as he sat before the television cameras.

"But most important," he added, "I believe that this action that I have just taken is in the vital interests of all Americans in stopping the rise in the cost of living."

In mid-March the President took further action that, in light of his earlier analysis, would appear to be inflationary. He released $1.5 billion in construction funds that had been frozen in 1969.

The release of such an amount won't suddenly flood the nation with money, but it is expected to cut in half the already slim projected budget surplus for 1971, a surplus the President had said he counted on to slow inflation.

What happened to bring about the change? If the battle against inflation had been won, the move would be more understandable. But it hasn't. Inflation is somewhere between 5 and 6 per cent.

Some support for the President's action comes from a review of economic statistics showing that despite the continuation of inflation—the economy's growth has almost stopped.

In fact, when first-quarter reports of Gross National Product are released next month they are expected to show little real change from the October-November-December quarter.

This would be evidence that phase one of the Nixon program has worked. But when the President embarked on his economic stability program more than a year ago he warned the American people not to expect him to release his grip on the economy until inflation also had been conquered. That's phase two.

In order to root out inflation, it is generally agreed, some painful experiences must be undergone, one of them being unemployment. It is almost axiomatic that as an economy cools the unemployment rate rises.

This, of course, has been borne out by an increase in the jobless rate from 3.5 per cent late last year to 4.2 per cent of the labor force in February. That percentage might be higher now.

It also goes without saying that a president's headaches grow more intense with an economic slowdown.

Not only do workers complain, but businessmen become disturbed about profit cuts, cities complain they are forced to postpone projects, and senators report that their constituents are unhappy.

While an economy wrung dry of inflation might be a laudatory goal, observers say, it produces so many short-range problems that it might take an utterly insensitive or daring administration to bring it off.

Critics of the administration are now chuckling aloud that they knew it all the time, asserting that Nixon's determination was made up mainly of rhetoric and when the kitchen really got hot he would turn on the air conditioning.

Police Trade Tickets For Dance

CLOVIS, N. M. (AP) — recently police and students in this community worked out a dance in exchange for lesser traffic tickets. The police promised high school students that if fewer traffic tickets were issued during the week from Jan. 30 to Feb. 6, the officers would sponsor a dance.

The number of tickets dropped significantly, and police handed out more than 900 free dance passes at the high school.

"Watch out for that knothole—"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A FANTASTICALLY successful manufacturer has discovered Marjorie Craig's "21 Day Shape Up Book," thereby reducing his waistline by a solid five inches in less than a month. One of his wife's friends commented, "I just can't get over it. Your Jerry now looks so fit I bet he can now do the 100-yard dash in about 11 seconds flat. Pity the poor salesmen he'll be egging on!" His wife corrected, "Pity his poor secretary!"

Returning from abroad, a business magnate with an odd sense of humor gifted his wife with a flask filled with a white liquid. "This liquid," he told her, "contains a mysterious ingredient. If you ever cheat on me, it will turn black."

The following month, the wife went off by herself to a health farm, and while she was gone, the mischievous husband emptied the flask, then refilled it with black ink. Back home, the wife lost no time in sneaking a look at her "mystery bottle"—which she quickly emptied, and filled again with milk.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is cold better than heat for bursitis of the shoulder?

Mr. M. N., Wisconsin
Dear Mr. N.: I always hoped that someone would ask this question so that I could tell an old and amusing story about doctors. When once a doctor suggested a hot, wet dressing, the patient used a cold one and got well. His explanation was that his housekeeper insisted that he use cold and he was afraid to go against her instructions. When the doctor was told about this, he said, "That's funny, my housekeeper says use heat."

Bursitis is a painful inflammation of the bursa, a pad or sac that lies beneath the muscles near the joints and helps make motion of the limbs smooth and painless. The excruciating pain is probably Nature's way of making sure that there is no unnecessary movement. Rest is one of the most important ways of treating bursitis.

It has been my experience as a sufferer from bursitis that cold is more soothing when applied to the tender area of the shoulder.

This painful affliction can be caused by an injury, exposure to draft and, less likely, by infections elsewhere in the body. It is surprising how often gout is overlooked as one of the possible reasons for bursitis.

New drugs that include cortisone and mixtures with novocaine are injected directly into the bursa and often bring rapid relief. If you should have another attack, try the application of cold, with the advice of your doctor.

What is the best way to stop a nosebleed in a child?
Mrs. L.M.C., Louisiana
Dear Mrs. C.: Most nosebleeds in children, adolescents and adults are not serious. Almost always they are caused by a broken blood vessel near the opening of the nose on the septal wall that divides one side from another. Dryness and crusting tempt people to pick their nose, with or without a handkerchief. This can cause the bleeding. For this reason a light oil or vaseline should be used to lubricate the nose to avoid crusting and bleeding.

The sight of blood panics many people. Children very quickly sense fear and are terrified if the parents become overly concerned. Bleeding should be handled calmly by placing a large piece of cotton in the nose on the side that is bleeding. Keep your child sitting up, not lying down. Squeeze the nose for about five minutes, for normal coagulation to take place. Then leave the cotton in the nose for 30 minutes to avoid dislodging the clot. Only rarely is it necessary to cauterize the broken blood vessel in a child. Adults more often benefit by this method, especially if repeated bleeding occurs.

What factors make some people live to a hundred years of age?
Mr. K.C.S., Colorado
Dear Mr. S.: Every centenarian has his own personal "scientific" reason. By chance I heard one last night on the radio. This man insists that it is because he eats lots of onions, garlic and scallions. My reaction to that was, what a long imposition on the people he had to live with.

Mustard plasters can cause a severe skin burn if applied too long and contrary to directions.

Could Carswell Be Worse?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
I am no student of the judicial opinions of Judge G. Harrold Carswell, but it amuses me to think that any lower court justice in the land could be deemed unfit to mingle on the Supreme Court bench with some of the alleged great brains that have been confusing the legislative function with the judicial for 10 these many years.

Quite privately I have long been convinced that one of the qualifications for a modern Supreme Court justice in the age of the Great Society must be that he is unable to read. How, save on the basis of functional illiteracy, can one explain the eight-to-one decision in the Mrs. Madalyn Murray school prayer case of 1963? Justice Tom Clark, who wrote the majority opinion which effectively made voluntary prayers or Bible-reading in the schools illegal, could hardly have had Article One of the Bill of Rights clearly before him when he spoke for the Court.

What this First Amendment to the Constitution says, quite explicitly, is that "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of a religion." Well, Congress never has tried to establish a national church; Congressmen, even the mediocrities among them, have been able to read. The First Amendment, however, conveys no hint of an instruction to states and the local communities about legislating on religious matters. (When the Bill of Rights was adopted some states actually had what amounted to local state churches.) Presumably Articles Nine and Ten of the Bill of Rights, which defend rights "retained by the People," and "reserved to the States," leave it entirely up to the local voters in the local communities to do as they please about school prayers provided, of course, that individuals are not coerced into praying against their will.

If words mean what they obviously say, eight Supreme Court justices should have been sent back to school for remedial reading instruction after the "Mad Murray" decision.

Then there is the case of Justice William O. Douglas, who has just come out with a book called "Points of Rebellion." Douglas, as a judge, is sworn to uphold the Constitution, the Established fundamental law of the land. This has not stopped him from writing this astounding passage: "We must realize that today's Establishment is the new George III. Whether it will continue to adhere to its tactics, we do not know. If it does, the redress, honored in tradition, is also revolution."

In my innocent way I had always thought the way to change our basic laws is prescribed in the Constitution which Justice Douglas is supposed to be protecting. The fundamental constitutive document of our Republic has been amended twenty-five times, proving that it can be done when the urge to depart from the older Established Law is compelling. Should not one assume that any right-minded Supreme Court justice would insist that "revolution" is not to be supported in preference to amendment by anyone speaking as a member of the high bench? You can't very well advocate illegality out of one side of your mouth and presume to be taken seriously as a defender of the law when you sit on the cases brought before your court.

Let me say it again that I am not a competent judge of G. Harrold Carswell's legal acumen. To make a proper study of his record I would have to take a month off from my work as a commentator on affairs. Since I am under contract to deliver a certain number of columns to editors each week, no such time is available to me.

However, I do have time to look at individual court opinions and to refresh myself on the wording of the Bill of Rights. I would be willing to gamble that Judge Carswell couldn't do worse than five or six of the justices who have been legislating for us from the high bench for years. And I am sure that Judge Carswell would never, in his right mind, write a book condoning revolution when the amending process is open to those who want to change the law.

Some of our Senators, speaking in defense of Carswell, have said the Supreme Court might benefit by the addition of a representative of "mediocre citizens." This is hardly the most felicitous way to put it. What we do have the right to expect is that judges should at least be able to understand English.

By Mrs. Francis Furniss

There were 61 present at the United Methodist Sunday School service followed with 142 present.

Baptismal services were held with the following being baptized, Rhonda Kay Conley, Larry Sheets, Barbara Louise Dilley, Abigail Riley and Kevin Liston and Mary Jean Liston. Members taken into the church were George Kern, Kelly Kern, Brenda and Karen Streitenberger.

The closing session of Bible Study was held Sunday evening at the church. Maundy Thursday services and communion will be held at the Five Points church at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. On March 27 Good Friday services will be held in the Derby church at 7:30 p.m. and sunrise services will be held at 6:30 a.m. in Derby Church. Members of both churches are urged to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rogers were honor guests at a dinner Saturday evening at Wardell's Party Home with twenty-two members of their family present. The occasion celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They held open house in their home Sunday afternoon and many friends called to help them celebrate.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Jolly of Columbus were Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clark McCafferty.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss and Miss Laura Long were Friday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Donohoe of near Washington C. H.

Mrs. Edna Hanawalt was the guest of Mrs. Scatia Follrod one afternoon last week and Mrs. Goldie Dennis was her Sunday afternoon guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grover celebrated their Golden Wedding Sunday in their home. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Grover and daughter Amy Lou of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Armentrout and son Steve, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Armentrout and Miss Glenna Woods of New Holland. A lovely decorated cake and punch was served. Congratulations!

Mrs. John Haller and daughter Mrs. Richard Everman were called to Lynchburg last week due to the death of their cousin, Mrs. Violet Shaffer. They returned home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Long, children Dick, David and Loretta Sue were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Jacques in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw and family of London were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray

A. Harden Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Riley were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Riley and family.

Miss Phyllis Louise Gantz, a sophomore of Judson College, Elgin, Ill., flew home for her spring break just in the nick of time to help her sister, Patricia Lynn Gantz celebrate her 11th birthday on March 21 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gantz. The Wahana Ka campfire girls were birthday party guests, Donna Bogenrife, Lynne Moreheart, Becky Phillips, Joy Rolfe, Brenda Smith and Amy Balgemore of Mt. Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Fuller and children Carl and Charlynn were Thursday evening visitors in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patch of Jeffersonville.

Deercreek Variety Club Has Program On Plastic

Mrs. Maribel Drummond entertained Deercreek Variety Homemakers Extension Club in her home recently. Twelve members answered roll call by naming something pertaining to Easter.

Mrs. Joan Dawson reported on the Spring County-Wide Meeting to be held April 30 at Community United Methodist Church in Circleville. Luncheon reservations must be made by April 23. The theme for the meeting is "Today's - Yesterday's." For the program Mrs. Orena Haynes will demonstrate scarfs, Don Wood will speak on antiques and a flea market will be held. Antique articles and clothing will be displayed.

Deercreek Variety Club is sponsoring a tour on April 22 to the Fostoria Glass clearance sale at Wheeling W. Va., and Imperial and Carnival Glass at Bellaire. Reservations for the tour are to be made by April 13. For information call Miss Mary Clark 474-7970 or Mrs. Clyde R. Herron 474-8408. The bus will leave the Pickaway County fairgrounds at 6:30 a.m.

For the program Alice Herron presented basic information on plastic. She said that plastics are materials formed from chemicals by man and it is surprising how many plastic articles we have in our homes. It was reported that half of the nation's furniture will be made of plastic within the next 20 years.

morning at general sessions.

The chorus is directed by Raymond Lilly who has performed in this capacity for several years.

Selections they will sing are "One World," "Those Were The Days," "One Person" and "Let There Be Peace."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Drummond.

The next meeting will be 8 p.m. April 15 in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Carle, Route 2, Circleville.

Princess Irene To Attend Show

SPANISH FORK, Utah (AP) — Princess Irene of Greece plans to attend a concert of the Utah Symphony Orchestra here Thursday.

She had intended to fly to Salt Lake City to renew acquaintances with her friend conductor Maurice Abravanel but when she learned that the orchestra would be playing in Spanish Fork—population 6,472—she asked to attend that performance. A spokesman said Princess Irene has been interested in Utah's program involving youth. Abravanel said this season, some 1,800 students have performed with the symphony in concerts across the state.

TOPS Club To Meet

TOPS Club will meet 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Red Cross headquarters, 167 Watt St.

Brownie Troop Cleans Litter From Streets

Girl Scout Brownie Troop 639 of Nicholas Drive School spent a busy afternoon Monday after leaving school by picking up litter along the streets.

Among things found littering the streets were broken pop bottles, candy wrappers, potato chip sacks, paper of all kinds, beer bottles and cans, an old muffler and even two trash can lids.

These small girls in just a little over an hour gathered up a large box full of litter, some of it dangerous, particularly the broken glass. On their pick-up operation they worked on part of Nicholas Drive, Brinks Drive, Griner Ave., Moats Drive and Pontious Lane. They stated that Nicholas Drive was by far the most productive in filling the boxes.

Members of the troop are Kathy Berrigan, Laura Cockrell, Betty Francis, Teresa Isaac, Pennie Johnston, Mary Kay Marshall, Vicki Martin, Melissa McCain, Rebecca McCain, Sherry McKinley, Angela Rhoades.

Lisa Sark, Trina Schrader, Barbara Schenk, Kimberly M. Siniff, Elizabeth Smith, Tina Sowers, Tammie Tussing, Miriam Waites and Robin Barnett. Co-leaders of the troop are Mrs. Eugene F. Siniff and Mrs. Jerry Smith.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Steele, S. Court St., Mr. and Mrs. William Radcliff, Ridgewood Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Route 4, will be Easter Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Hitler, Silver Lake, Akron.

Misses Jane and Mary Mader, students at Miami University, Oxford, are spending their spring vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader Jr., Pinckney Street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Byrd, S. Pickaway St., will spend Easter Sunday in Cincinnati with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bailey and son of Circleville will accompany the Byrds to Cincinnati.

Paul Stephens, a student at Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., is spending his spring vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole, Ridgewood Drive.

Mrs. R. R. Bales and Mrs. Charles Smith, E. Main St., and Mrs. Clark Will, W. Mound St., visited recently with Mrs. Bennett M. Cryder at Convalescent Center, Worthington.

Sturm And Dillard Sells Ancient Steam Locomotive

BACK TO WORK — Old Engine 105, used for many years to haul gravel at Sturm and Dillard Co., is loaded on a special railroad car and will be shipped to Erie, Pa., where it will be overhauled. Its ultimate destination is a summer resort in Conneaut, Pa., where it will be used to pull a sightseeing train.

One of the old steam engines which at one time hauled gravel from the quarries at Sturm and Dillard Co. to the gravel washing and crushing plant is bound for a new home.

Engine 105 has been sold to Arthur Davis of Wooster. After it is overhauled in an Erie, Pa., Railroad yard the engine will be taken to Conneaut Lake, Pa.

There it will be used to pull a small train in a summer resort.

One engine still remains at Sturm and Dillard Co., waiting for the Pickaway County Historical Society to find a suitable location for it.

GEORGE Fissell, manager of the gravel firm, has donated the engine to the local historical society.

Fissell points out that many of today's youngsters have never seen a steam engine. He believes its historical value is immeasurable.

From the time the Sturm and Dillard Gravel Co. began the operation about 1928 until shortly after World War II the engines hauled car loads of gravel from the quarries to the plant.

There were originally three steam locomotives. One was sold several years ago to a railroad museum in New York State.

The engines were all built shortly after World War I.

The engine which Davis purchased was loaded on a special railroad car which he owns. The car has lengths of track secured to its bed for railroad engines and cars to ride on.

THE Sturm and Dillard Gravel Co. is an outgrowth of the old Sturm and Dillard Construction Co. which built the Norfolk and Western Railroad through Pickaway County.

The gravel quarry was opened to provide gravel for the railroad bed.

After construction of the N & W was completed, the company remained in the county, and has been one of the area's most stable industries.

Universal Language Course To Be Offered At YMCA

Beginning April 8, a new language course is to be offered for the first time ever in Pickaway County, through the efforts of the local YMCA and Instructor, Lewis Cook.

Esperanto is a universal help-language designed to serve as the second language for all peoples and nations.

The language is simple, easy to learn, flexible and well-sounding. Its grammar has only 16 rules without any exceptions.

The ability to speak another language is a valuable asset. Unfortunately, it is almost impossible to really learn a foreign tongue without actually living where it is spoken. It is possible, however, to learn the international language Esperanto with no other equipment other than a simple text-book.

Politically, Esperanto is completely neutral in this divided world. It flourishes on Esperanto is a tried and true.

UNESCO has recognized that Esperanto facilitates person-to-person contacts and thus furthers its own cultural and educational aims. In 1954 UNESCO invited the Universal Esperanto Association to become a consulting associate.

Esperanto does not aim to replace the 2,796 existing languages; it overcomes the present language CHAOS in international relations, serving as a neutral instrument of international communications for all.

Esperanto literature includes translated and original novels, short stories, plays, poems, scientific works, and over 100 magazines and newspapers.

23 radio stations regularly broadcast in Esperanto. Its members are found in 22 professional international associations, of, for example, teachers, scientists, lawyers, journalists and doctors.

Esperanto is a tried and tested and proved international language. In 1968, 50 schools both elementary and adult, were offering Esperanto classes in such far-flung states as California, Washington, Texas, Pennsylvania, New York, Florida, Ohio, Oregon, and Illinois. In Spain, it is possible to receive a doctor's degree in Esperanto studies.

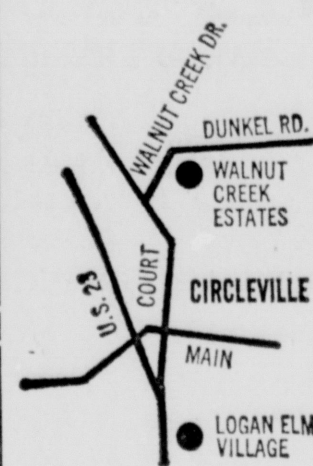

It has also been successfully used as an international tongue in meetings of the international Boy Scout organization. Boy Scouts may now earn a merit badge for completing Esperanto Scouting Course. Over 30,000 books and articles on all subjects are available in this language covering at least 50 branches of science, technology, philosophy, and other specialized subjects.

Those interested in learning more about this valuable tongue are urged to contact the YMCA office on East Franklin Street.

Sturm And Dillard Sells Ancient Steam Locomotive

BACK TO WORK — Old Engine 105, used for many years to haul gravel at Sturm and Dillard Co., is loaded on a special railroad car and will be shipped to Erie, Pa., where it will be overhauled. Its ultimate destination is a summer resort in Conneaut, Pa., where it will be used to pull a sightseeing train.

One of the old steam engines which at one time hauled gravel from the quarries at Sturm and Dillard Co. to the gravel washing and crushing plant is bound for a new home.

Engine 105 has been sold to Arthur Davis of Wooster. After it is overhauled in the Erie, Pa., Railroad yard the engine will be taken to Conneaut Lake, Pa.

There it will be used to pull a small train in a summer resort.

One engine still remains at Sturm and Dillard Co., waiting for the Pickaway County Historical Society to find a suitable location for it.

GEORGE Fissell, manager of the gravel firm, has donated the engine to the local historical society.

Fissell points out that many of today's youngsters have never seen a steam engine. He believes its historical value is immeasurable.

From the time the Sturm and Dillard Gravel Co. began operation about 1928 until shortly after World War II the engines hauled car loads of gravel from the quarries to the plant.

There were originally three steam locomotives. One was sold several years ago to a railroad museum in New York State.

The engines were all built shortly after World War I.

The engine which Davis purchased was loaded on a special railroad car which he owns. The car has lengths of track secured to its bed for railroad engines and cars to ride on.

THE Sturm and Dillard Gravel Co. is an outgrowth of the old Sturm and Dillard Construction Co. which built the Norfolk and Western Railroad through Pickaway County.

The gravel quarry was opened to provide gravel for the railroad bed.

After construction of the N & W was completed, the company remained in the county, and has been one of the area's most stable industries.

Easter Cantata Set By CBC Choir

The Circleville Bible College Choir will present an Easter cantata 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Campus church. It is entitled "No Greater Love" by John W. Petersen.

The public is invited to attend by Mrs. Glenna Brown, choir director.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Temperatures during the night ranged from the mid 20s to the lower 30s under partly cloudy skies.

Showers developing today will continue tonight. The rain likely will be a mixture of rain and snow in northern Ohio this evening before changing to rain later tonight.

Rain is expected to continue over most of the state through Thursday.

Friday's outlook shows colder weather with a chance of some snow flurries in the north.

FORECASTS
NORTHWEST INLAND, WEST LAKE SHORE, EAST LAKE SHORE & NORTHEAST INLAND OHIO — Cloudy and not as cool with rain likely tonight, possibly beginning as mixture of rain and snow this evening. Lows tonight in the 30s. Cloudy and cool with rain continuing Thursday. Highs in the 40s.
WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL & EAST CENTRAL OHIO — Cloudy with rain tonight and Thursday and continued cool. Lows tonight in the 30s. Highs Thursday in the 40s.
SOUTHWEST & SOUTHEAST OHIO — Cloudy with rain and continued cool tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the upper 30s to the lower 40s. Highs Thursday in the mid to upper 40s.

Universal Language Course To Be Offered At YMCA

Beginning April 8, a new language course is to be offered for the first time ever in Pickaway County, through the efforts of the local YMCA and Instructor, Lewis Cook.

Esperanto is a universal help-language designed to serve as the second language for all peoples and nations.

The language is simple, easy to learn, flexible and well-sounding. Its grammar has only 16 rules without any exceptions.

The ability to speak another language is a valuable asset. Unfortunately, it is almost impossible to really learn a foreign tongue without actually living where it is spoken. It is possible, however, to learn the international language Esperanto with no other equipment other than a simple text-book.

Politically, Esperanto is completely neutral in this divided world. It flourishes on Esperanto is a tried and true.

UNESCO has recognized that Esperanto facilitates person-to-person contacts and thus furthers its own cultural and educational aims. In 1954 UNESCO invited the Universal Esperanto Association to become a consulting associate.

Esperanto does not aim to replace the 2,796 existing languages; it overcomes the present language CHAOS in international relations, serving as a neutral instrument of international communications for all.

Esperanto literature includes translated and original novels, short stories, plays, poems, scientific works, and over 100 magazines and newspapers.

23 radio stations regularly broadcast in Esperanto. Its members are found in 22 professional international associations, of, for example, teachers, scientists, lawyers, journalists and doctors.

Esperanto is a tried and tested and proved international language. In 1968, 50 schools both elementary and adult, were offering Esperanto classes in such far-flung states as California, Washington, Texas, Pennsylvania, New York, Florida, Ohio, Oregon, and Illinois. In Spain, it is possible to receive a doctor's degree in Esperanto studies.

It has also been successfully used as an international tongue in meetings of the international Boy Scout organization. Boy Scouts may now earn a merit badge for completing Esperanto Scouting Course. Over 30,000 books and articles on all subjects are available in this language covering at least 50 branches of science, technology, philosophy, and other specialized subjects.

Those interested in learning more about this valuable tongue are urged to contact the YMCA office on East Franklin Street.

Hint from...

Betty Brown Big Bear's Own
Home Economist

Ham and asparagus, two Springtime favorites, are on sale now at all neighborhood Big Bear Stores. The most economical way to buy ham is in the quarter, half or whole piece, then slice it yourself. Asparagus is an especially good buy during this time of year, and is a tasty break from "winter vegetables". Combine these two favorites in these glamorous, fool-proof Ham Roll-Ups, for a really festive touch to your table.

HAM ROLL-UPS

Top Fresh Asparagus Cooked, Quarter, Half or Spears (3-4 per serving) Whole Ham
Slices of Ham from Marhoefer's Semi-Boneless Fully

Cook fresh asparagus for 5 minutes in boiling, salted water.
Remove from water and drain. Slice ham 1/4 inch thick. Roll slices of Marhoefer's Fully Cooked Ham around 3-4 asparagus spears. Heat in 350 deg. F oven about 20 minutes. Serve with Hollandaise or cheese sauce.

Dear Editor:

I was very happy to read that the Girl Scout Area Council had honored Mrs. Robert Jones for her many years of service to the Girl Scouts of Pickaway County.

Her family duties and her active part in her own church did not keep her from expending much time and great energy with the daughters of many families in our community.

Thank you, Florence Jones!

Dear Editor:

This letter is to the people of Pickaway County.

Have you ever thought what you would do if your husband was to become ill and have to go to a hospital or sanitarium for an extended period of time. If you were the average family, you would probably turn to welfare for help.

If children were involved, you would apply for aid for dependent children. Well, I have news for you. The welfare would send you along with quite a few others right out the door.

I know personally a woman whose husband is being sent to a tuberculosis sanitarium. This couple has three children.

The mother has worked all her life along side her husband in a shoe factory to supplement their income.

The past few months their checks have varied because their work was slacking down. Now when over half of the income is being taken out of their home, she needs a little help.

She was told by Pickaway County Board of Health officials to apply for ADC (aid to dependent children). She did, but was told that she didn't have sufficient reasons for help.

Stop and think of all the people you know on welfare and ask yourself if they really deserve it or need it.

Think of all the fathers that get by without paying support money for minor children because ADC does it for them.

Think of all the people on welfare that drink and smoke and then collect their checks each month.

Isn't it enough to make you sick? Why can't we give the people that have worked all their lives a chance when they need it?

Dear Editor:

Many hundreds of citizens of our city and county were recently treated to an outstanding achievement accomplished by the Women Guilds of Berger Hospital.

The High Fever Follies of 1970, staged at the City High School was a triumph of artistic value, an example of a big and complicated task well done by hard work and cooperation, as well as a significantly successful and enjoyable way to support our hospital.

The smooth performances, individual and group, the truly enjoyable humor on a healthy wholesome level, the engaging personalities projected to the audience, all attest to the quality of the show.

The community spirit and whole hearted efforts on the parts of so many people make us all proud of every participant both on stage and back stage. The contestants for the title "Fastest Gun" deserve our praise as well.

"Hats Off" and thanks to the women of the Guilds.

Junior Company To Be In City

Jasted II, a Junior Achievement Company sponsored by Fisher Body Division — Columbus Plant; of General Motors Corporation will be in Circleville Saturday to sell their product.

Junior Achievement companies are comprised of approximately 20 high school youths. The companies are sponsored by business firms so that high school students can learn about the American Free Enterprise System.

Each year these companies go through a complete business cycle. They generate an idea, sell stock for capitalization, produce a product, sell it at a competitive price, pay wages, pay tax and finally at year end the company is liquidated. As in all businesses it is hoped the company has been profitable and the stockholders will have their investment plus a dividend paid them.

The presence of Jasted II in Circleville will give citizens of the community an opportunity to see Junior Achievement in operation.

Also, your patronage of this Junior Achievement company will help them in achieving a profitable and successful year.

Carswell Foes Could Defeat Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-Carswell forces are exploring a second-line strategy they hope might attract senators otherwise thought to be bound to President Nixon's Supreme Court nomination.

Although the opponents of G. Harrold Carswell still prefer a straight defeat of the Florida federal appeals judge, they are examining closely the move suggested by Sen. Fred Harris, which would send the nomination back to the Judiciary Committee.

This probably would have the same effect—killing the nomination—but would avoid having a senator stand up and publicly oppose the President.

An example of this strategy is at work in the Senate now, with three unnamed members the anti-Carswell forces feel would go their way if they didn't have to act directly against the nomination.

If their support can be lined up to recommit the nomination the Carswell opponents might take that short-cut over a straight up or down vote.

Although Harris, D-Okla., declined to comment, the three senators were understood to be Republicans wary of helping the Senate defeat a presidential nomination for the second time. The Senate rejected Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. on a 55-45 vote last fall.

The debate, now in its second week, was set aside today so the Senate could grapple with a controversial education bill. But the hiatus didn't mean the work on both sides of the Carswell issue had stopped.

The antinomination elements have been picking up strength and even the administration forces in the Senate concede privately the opposition could be close to the needed 51 votes to defeat Carswell.

The opponents, however, were understood to be planning more of what they refer to as "the

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring has scarcely made its debut, but already it is beginning to look like summer in television-land.

By the end of this week a baker's dozen series will have gone into re-runs—and that doesn't count theatrical films on their second trip out. By the end of another three weeks, just about every series will be an oft-told tale.

If the TV season seems shorter than it used to, it's because it is shorter—almost three months shorter than 10 or 15 years ago. Once the usual series was committed to turn out 39 weeks of shows. Today many series make no more than 24 programs, depending on a couple of pre-empted of their time period to fill out the six month run.

Why re-runs? Network executives say it is a matter of economics. If each episode of a series costs, say, $100,000, a second time out on the network amortizes that production cost. It may not cut the average to $50,000—there are the re-run fees to pay performers—but it helps.

CBS' special, "Fight For Life" on Tuesday night was an unusual film study of a tribe of Eskimos at their northern Canada winter encampment where in 30 and 40 below zero temperatures they hunt seal below Arctic sea ice.

It was an hour which viewers with central heating and handy stores shivered over, watching bits and pieces, which they feel is eroding of administration support.

These included disclosure last week that two Carswell colleagues on the 5th Court of Appeals were reluctant to endorse his nomination, plus the injection into the controversy of charges that Carswell violated judicial ethics by alleged hostility to civil rights lawyers.

these hardy nomads in bitter cold hunting in primitive fashion. In contrast here was their warm family life, the sharing, the laughter and their happy times together.

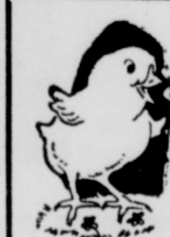

The Netsilik Eskimos lived close together in igloos which were never above freezing. The men hunted in groups and the seal was their staff of life. They ate its flesh, tanned its skin for clothing, burned its blubber for cooking. A harpooned seal provided food for the group for several days. Scenes of the catch and the ritualistic butchering of the sea mammal were pretty grisly, particularly in color.

Since the film was shot five years ago, the Netsiliks have been established in permanent settlements and no longer pursue the caribou during the short summer and the seal in the long Arctic night.

Elizabeth Taylor and Burton seemed more relaxed and less "on" when interviewed by Charles Collingwood on CBS' "60 Minutes" than during a much longer interview last week with David Frost.

The CBS interview was shot at Miss Taylor's parents' home in Los Angeles. Both interviews inevitably covered much the same areas.

More interesting were Harry Reasoner's report on a recent visit to military installations in Israel and—closer to home and the American pocketbook—a report on the ineffectiveness of today's automobile bumpers.

Aldrin will help you get back yields you've been losing to soil insects.

Nationally, soil insects cause an average of 8% loss in stands. Missing plants mean lower yields at harvest time.

An average of 9 bushels more corn per acre resulted when Aldrin was broadcast in Iowa and Purdue tests over the past 15 years.

Aldrin is all you need for soil insect control . . . no matter how you grow corn. Where Aldrin is used correctly, cutworms, wireworms, white grubs, seed corn maggots, seed corn beetles, billbugs, webworms and many others won't be around to cause plant losses.

Available in liquid or granular form, Aldrin is economical as well as effective. Broadcast treatments, the most effective against soil insects, cost less than $3 per acre. And the extra bushels you'll harvest will more than pay for the cost.

Let us help you get back the yields you've been losing. Control soil insects with Aldrin.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Hubby's Loan - Business Or Pleasure?

DEAR ABBY: We live in a small town where everybody knows everybody else's business.

Well, my husband and I have two cars. He drives one and I drive the other. About a week ago he asked me if I would mind letting him use MY car because his had to go into the shop. Well, of course I said I didn't mind, even though it meant my begging rides with my neighbors to haul my kids here and there, do my marketing, and so on.

It turned out that HIS car never did go into the shop as there was nothing wrong with it. Instead he let some red-headed divorcee who works for him use HIS car because HERS had to go into the shop. How about that?

Everybody in town has seen this redhead driving my husband's car and I am plenty mad! My sister says I should go see this redhead and smash her nose in. What is your advice?

NO WHEELS
DEAR NO: Don't take your sister's advice seriously or you could have an assault case on your hands. Ask your husband if the redhead is driving his car for business or pleasure. If it's pleasure—give him the business.

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 years old and I'm writing to you with a problem I am too ashamed to ask anybody about face to face.

I grew up on a farm. We had 16 cows who had to be milked morning and evening and I did ALL the milking. We didn't have mechanical milkers, so I milked those cows.

Well, my problem is I have a forearm any man would be proud of, and I am a woman. Is there any way I can get those big muscles down? They aren't as firm as they used to be because I don't milk cows any more, but I would like to wear sleeveless dresses now and then. Thanks for any help you can give me.

"MUSCLES"
DEAR MUSCLES: When a formerly muscular person stops exercising, flab replaces muscle. If I were you, I'd wear sleeves.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please remind your readers to look after parents when they're old, senile, half blind, crippled, and unable to lead a normal life? Old parents need all their children. It's not always easy to cope with aging parents, but we weren't easy to cope with when they were raising US either. We OWE it to them. I just wish someone had reminded ME of these things when Mamma was still alive. It's too late now, and I haven't had a decent night's sleep since she died three months ago.

I knew she had a good home with my sister, so that was that. Why didn't I take her for a few weeks, or even for Sunday dinner, or for a little drive? I never had time for her, yet I had time for others, and anything else I wanted to do. Mamma was so lonely, and a change of scenery would have meant so much to her. Or even a meal at my home, but I was too busy. And I had plenty of excuses.

I suppose the only one in our large family who is sleeping is my sister who took Mamma to live with her. I've tried to ease my conscience by telling myself I wasn't really ashamed of her like my older brother was. Or I wasn't cheap, like my sister. I DID buy her things (which she never really needed or enjoyed much). But it's too late now. I hope Mamma forgives me.

CAN'T SLEEP
What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Major Highway School Amendment Stirs Fight

Project Bids Are Opened

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways opened bids Tuesday on work estimated at cost more than $9.1 million.

The major project, in Hamilton County, drew an apparent low bid of $6,797,073 million from the Foley Construction Co., Cincinnati, for building a 1.2 mile section of the Norwood Lateral—Ohio 562, to provide Cincinnati with a second major east west freeway. The state estimate was $7,150,000.

The project lies between Reading Road on U.S. 42 and Montgomery Road on U.S. 22. It will link Interstate 75 and Interstate 71, supplementing Interstate 275 as a major cross-town artery. The project is scheduled for completion in November, 1971.

Other major projects included:

PICKAWAY County — Improving Ohio 56 and constructing one bridge; apparent low bid Howard Phillips Inc. of Hilliard, $231,792; state estimate $291,000.

RICHLAND County — Improving 1.091 miles of U.S. 30 and constructing one bridge; apparent low bid Purdy Construction Co., Mansfield, $762,927; state estimate $795,600.

MONTGOMERY County — Improving 0.638 mile of Ohio 48; apparent low bid Urbana Tar & Asphalt Co., $251,105; state estimate $296,000.

STARK County — Improving Ohio 43 for 12.779 miles by furnishing and installing various traffic control devices; apparent low bid Jess Howard Electric of Columbus $359,480; state estimate $617,000.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calling the fight a "tempest in a teapot," Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott says a controversial amendment on school desegregation policy should be removed from a $24.6 billion education bill.

Scott told his colleagues Tuesday President Nixon's 8,000-word statement on school desegregation "demolishes the need" for the amendment or any weakened version of it.

Southern senators, hoping to strengthen the amendment originally aimed at blunting school integration efforts, lashed out at the House-Senate conference committee that softened its language after adoption by the Senate.

The Dixie bloc, led by Sen. John Stennis, sponsor of the amendment, had kept its strategy a closely-guarded secret, but Senate leaders felt either a long debate was brewing or the Mississippi Democrat was preparing a move to send the measure back to the conference committee with instructions to restore the original.

The Southerners' main effort was to obtain the same application of federal school desegregation laws and regulations in the North as well as the South, regardless of the reasons behind segregation.

Scott said Nixon made it clear that de jure—official—segregation will not be tolerated, while de facto segregation, although an evil, has not been ruled on by the courts and must be dealt with in other ways.

This means, Scott said, de facto segregation, whether in the North or the South will be handled uniformly and there is no need for any amendment.

But the Southerners did not view it in that light and insisted they wanted their amendment.

The original amendment said federal desegregation policies must be applied uniformly throughout the nation, requiring the federal government to move as forcefully against de facto segregated schools in the North as it has against legal segregation in the South.

But the Senate-House conference watered this down to read one policy applied to de jure segregation and "such other policy" as may be provided by law dealing with de facto segregation. There is no law on the subject now.

Stennis said the provision "would exempt de facto segregation in the North but the South would still stand condemned."

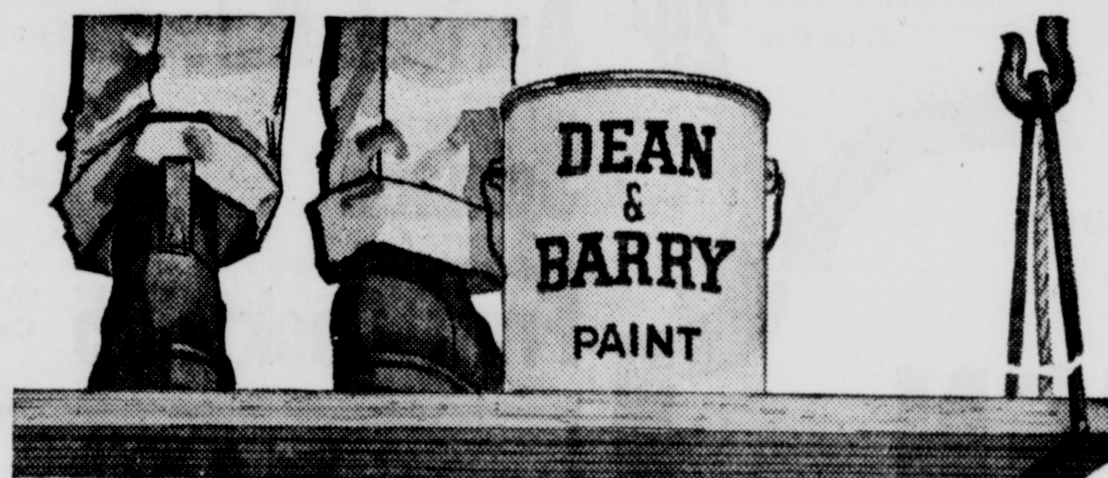

The bill also extends for three years the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and other major school aid programs.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Hubby's Loan - Business Or Pleasure?

DEAR ABBY: We live in a small town where everybody knows everybody else's business.

Well, my husband and I have two cars. He drives one and I drive the other. About a week ago he asked me if I would mind letting him use MY car because his had to go into the shop. Well, of course I said I didn't mind, even though it meant my begging rides with my neighbors to haul my kids here and there, do my marketing, and so on.

It turned out that HIS car never did go into the shop as there was nothing wrong with it. Instead he let some red-headed divorcee who works for him use HIS car because HERS had to go into the shop. How about that?

Everybody in town has seen this redhead driving my husband's car and I am plenty mad! My sister says I should go see this redhead and smash her nose in. What is your advice

NO WHEELS

DEAR NO: Don't take your sister's advice seriously or you could have an assault case on your hands. Ask your husband if the redhead is driving his car for business or pleasure. If it's pleasure—give him the business.

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 years old and I'm writing to you with a problem I am too ashamed to ask anybody about face to face.

I grew up on a farm. We had 16 cows who had to be milked morning and evening and I did ALL the milking. We didn't have mechanical milkers, so I milked those cows.

Well, my problem is I have a forearm any man would be proud of, and I am a woman. Is there any way I can get those big muscles down? They aren't as firm as they used to be because I don't milk cows any more, but I would like to wear sleeveless dresses now and then. Thanks for any help you can give me.

"MUSCLES"

DEAR MUSCLES: When a formerly muscular person stops exercising, flab replaces muscle. If I were you, I'd wear sleeves.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please remind your readers to look after parents when they're old, senile, half blind, crippled, and unable to lead a normal life? Old parents need all their children. It's not always easy to cope with aging parents, but we weren't easy to cope with when they were raising US either. We OWE it to them. I just wish someone had reminded ME of these things when Mamma was still alive. It's too late now, and I haven't had a decent night's sleep since she died three months ago.

I knew she had a good home with my sister, so that was that. Why didn't I take her for a few weeks, or even for Sunday dinner, or for a little drive? I never had time for her, yet I had time for others, and anything else I wanted to do. Mamma was so lonely, and a change of scenery would have meant so much to her. Or even a meal at my home, but I was too busy. And I had plenty of excuses.

I suppose the only one in our large family who is sleeping is my sister who took Mamma to live with her. I've tried to ease my conscience by telling myself I wasn't really ashamed of her like my older brother was. Or I wasn't cheap, like my sister. I DID buy her things (which she never really needed or enjoyed much). But it's too late now. I hope Mamma forgives me.

CAN'T SLEEP

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Transients To Be Counted March 31

Even if you are away from home on Census Day, the Census Bureau intends to find you in your hotel or motel and count you as a resident of your home city, county, and state, District Manager Joseph N. Hoyt said today.

This will require a special project called "T-Night," the "T" standing for "Transient." "T-Night" will be March 31 throughout the United States, and the management of all hotels, motels and other large places for transients will take part.

On "T-Night," which is the night before Census Day, April 1, all transients at hotels, motels and like places will be given an individual census form to fill out. It includes space to indicate "usual place of residence." After all forms have been collected, they will be sorted at the local district office to determine which persons, having no other usual place of residence, should be counted locally. Those who give a home address elsewhere will be allocated to their appropriate home areas.

Permanent residents of a hotel or motel will be counted as part of the local population where they are staying. Information about their housing, which is part of the 1970 census, will be furnished by the resident managers.

Yablonski Case Figure Loses Son

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Paul E. Gilly, formerly of Akron, who is charged with conspiracy in connection with the slaying of United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph Yablonski, has lost permanent custody of her 13-year-old son by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Gilly also is charged by Pennsylvania authorities with murder in the shooting deaths of Yablonski, his wife and daughter at their Clarksville, Pa., home. The bodies were found Jan. 5. Mrs. Gilly's former husband, Arlin Gibson of Akron, who has remarried since their 1961 divorce, was awarded permanent custody of the youth, Ronald. The award was made Monday in Summit County Domestic Relations Court.

The youth has been living in Toledo with Mrs. Gilly's brother, Charles Huddleston. The court ruled the boy should remain in Toledo through July 1 to finish the school year. He is then to live with his father in Akron.

Mrs. Gilly was awarded custody after the divorce, but Gibson sued to regain custody after his former wife was indicted by a federal grand jury in Cleveland.

Taft Taunts Rhodes Over Decision To Debate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rep. Robert Taft Jr. says Gov. James A. Rhodes decided to debate on television because he thinks he is trailing in the Senate campaign.

Taft said Tuesday night his opponent for the Republican nomination had decided against the television debates, "but now he thinks he's a little behind and had better take the risk."

Taft was responding to a statement made earlier in the day by Rhodes in which the governor said he had not agreed earlier to a series of TV debates because he had not been asked directly to do so. Furthermore, Rhodes said, he agreed Monday to a series of debates on television and radio stations around the state because they would be true debates and not the forum or symposium type formats proposed earlier by Taft.

Taft replied that Rhodes was "just trying to confuse the issue."

With the Rhodes-Taft debate issue apparently settled, Democrat Howard M. Metzbaum chided his Senate opponent, John H. Glenn, Tuesday for refusing to meet him face-to-face on television.

Metzbaum told the former astronaut in a telegram he is the only Senate candidate of either party who has not agreed to participate in broadcast debates.

The Cleveland businessman-attorney said Glenn was doing a "diservice" by not accepting the offers of 57 radio and television stations to carry the debates.

Taft campaigned in the Cleveland area Tuesday, while Rhodes moved into the Cincinnati congressman's home territory.

Earlier Tuesday Rhodes issued a statement in Columbus saying if he were a member of the Senate now he would work diligently to "right the wrongs of postal employees." He urged the mailmen to return to their jobs because no settlement can be reached while the strike continued.

A Republican candidate for Rhodes' Statehouse office, Rep. Donald E. Lukens, also spoke out on the postal crisis Tuesday, saying the strike was regrettable but the grievances legitimate.

He said wage increases were long overdue and called for an immediate end to "playing politics with postal workers' incomes."

Atty. Gen. Paul Brown, another contender for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, said in Cincinnati Tuesday he believes capital punishment deters crime.

"I'm in favor of it as a deterrent and when the jury favors it," Brown said.

He also criticized the appeals system for persons convicted of crimes as being too slow.

John J. Gilligan, Democratic candidate for governor, told a party gathering in Willoughby the state has failed to meet its responsibility in financing local school districts.

"If Ohio is going to have a public educational system at all, the state has to increase its fiscal obligation," Gilligan said.

A Democratic candidate for attorney general, C. Raymond Marvin of Cleveland, accused the governor of packing the state pollution control board with pro-pollution interests.

He told Rhodes in a letter that he has been "more interested in protecting industry from the people than in protecting the people's right to breathe safe air."

State Rep. John C. McDonauld of Newark, who also seeks the Democratic nomination for

King Film Threatened By Bomb

CINCINNATI (AP) — One picket was arrested and a police search turned up no bomb Tuesday night during the charity showing of a film depicting the life of Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. at the downtown Grand theater.

Lt. Howard Espelage said the picket, a sidewalk pretzel vendor, had been arguing with a group of Negroes outside the theater. The man was arrested. No charges were immediately filed.

The picket carried a banner saying "King Was A Communist." Police said he was armed with two loaded pistols, a hunting knife and a black jack.

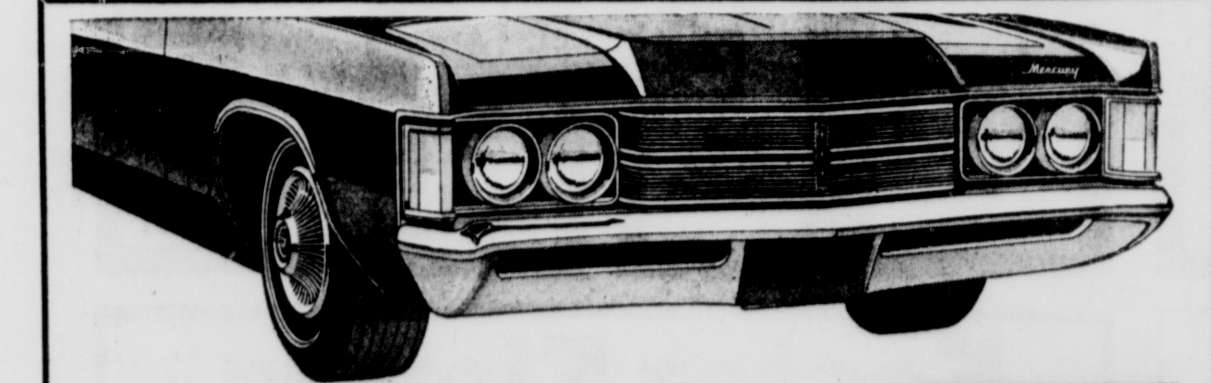

About 1,350 persons attended the opening of the film downtown. It was entitled "King: A Documentary from Montgomery to Memphis."

It played at five Cincinnati locations with profits going to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which King headed.

A bomb threat was telephoned to the theater about an hour before the film started at 8 p.m.

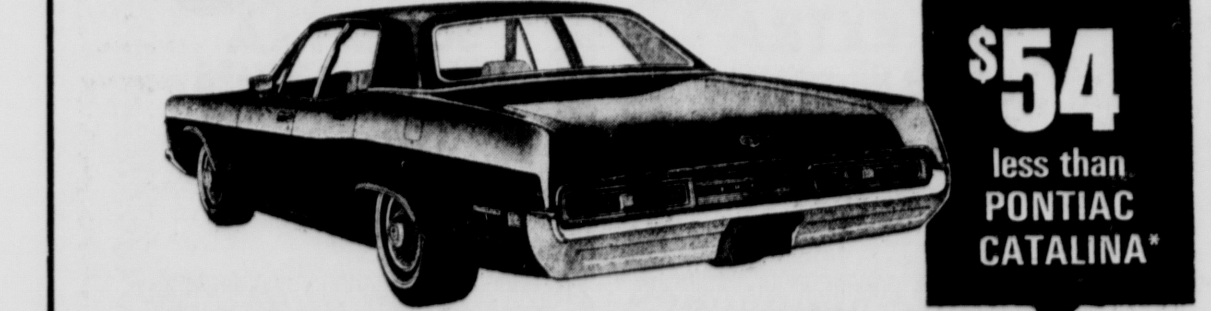

The showing of the same film in Springfield Tuesday night was interrupted by a bomb threat that also turned out to be a hoax.

More than 500 persons were evacuated from the downtown theater during a search but reentered after nothing was found.

Campaign To Get Blacks In Guard Fails

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A more than two-year-old National Guard campaign to enlist more blacks has failed completely so far, and the guard's chief says "I don't know why."

"This is one effort we have not been successful in," Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, National Guard bureau chief acknowledged in an interview.

"I can't get a handle on it—it's one of the most confusing problems I've ever faced."

The statistics show just how badly the effort has flopped. At the end of 1969, there were 5,487 blacks in the Army and Air National Guard—1.15 per cent of the 478,860 total.

Two years earlier, there actually were more black guardsmen—5,807. The black percentage was the same because the over-all size of the guard at the close of 1967 was greater—503,554.

Blacks represent about 11 per cent of the U.S. population. Wilson, who was credited with nudging holdout Southern units into integrating in 1964, said the guard put on "quite a push" after a presidential advisory committee on civil disorders urged increasing Negro recruitment.

The guard used a number of approaches to interest young blacks, including radio and TV advertising appeals, personal missionary work by black guard officers and seeking help from Negro organizations.

A special test recruitment program was conducted in New Jersey in 1968-1969 and resulted in a 700-man black increase in that one state.

The drive cost about $90,000 and was given impetus by a special authorization to recruit 5 per cent over normal state strength specifically for Negro slots.

But the guard was rejected when it tried to get authority from Congress for a nationwide over-strength allowance of 5,000 men. Some guard officials said Congress objected to "reverse discrimination."

The over-strength allotment was necessary, guard officials said, because the service has been at full authorized manpower levels since 1965 and there is a waiting list.

And, even the waiting list contains a disproportionate percentage of whites.

Of the 132,162 men on the waiting list as of Dec. 31, 1969 only 1,548 were blacks.

While Wilson says he is baffled why blacks do not show more interest in the guard, others say Negro youths are reluctant to join predominantly white organizations. Also, these sources say, most black youths feel Negroes carry a heavier burden than whites in the Vietnam war.

Guard officials also reported lack of response among blacks in a new recruiting drive aimed at persuading men who have seen active duty to enroll in the guard after returning to civilian life.

In Florida, for example, officials said they contacted some 900 black veterans but received only 40 replies.

Wilson says the guard is not going to give up, although the results have been so bad.

"We believe in it," Wilson said of the principle that blacks should be represented in the Guard close to their proportion of the total American population.

But he added: "We're still a volunteer force—you can't pull them in."

Company To Buy Detroit Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP)—William E. Stewart, president of Cyclops Corp. of Pittsburgh, announced today that the company has agreed to purchase the entire stock interest in Detroit Steel Corp. owned by American Export Industries, Inc.

The transaction involves 761,794 shares or about 19 per cent of Detroit Steel's 4,937,963 shares outstanding. The price to be paid American Export will be $12 million in cash, a note for $5 million, and 10-year warrants to purchase 150,000 shares of Cyclops common stock at $46 per share, Stewart said.

State Plans To Open Crime Lab

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new scientific crime laboratory in Summit County will be operational within a month, Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said Tuesday.

The laboratory, situated in the Richfield Clinic at the intersection of Interstate 77 and Old U. S. 21, will be financed partly by a $106,500 federal grant.

Brown received the money in his office this morning.

The laboratory will be operated by the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation at London in Madison County. It will serve some 35 counties and 60 per cent of the state's population, Brown said.

When the new lab is operational, BCI will phase out the laboratory it is now operating at Kent State University.

Brown said the money was the first of the federal funds his office has received to aid in the fight against crime. He said he expects additional federal help in financing campus police forces and for record-keeping purposes.

King Film Threatened By Bomb

CINCINNATI (AP) — One picket was arrested and a police search turned up no bomb Tuesday night during the charity showing of a film depicting the life of Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. at the downtown Grand theater.

Lt. Howard Espelage said the picket, a sidewalk pretzel vendor, had been arguing with a group of Negroes outside the theater. The man was arrested. No charges were immediately filed.

The picket carried a banner saying "King Was A Communist." Police said he was armed with two loaded pistols, a hunting knife and a black jack. About 1,350 persons attended the opening of the film downtown. It was entitled "King: A Documentary from Montgomery to Memphis."

It played at five Cincinnati locations with profits going to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which King headed.

A bomb threat was telephoned to the theater about an hour before the film started at 8 p.m.

The showing of the same film in Springfield Tuesday night was interrupted by a bomb threat that also turned out to be a hoax.

More than 500 persons were evacuated from the downtown theater during a search but reentered after nothing was found.

mittee began hearings Tuesday night on a Senate-approved bill to create upper level courses at two-year state university branch campuses.

The bill's prime sponsor, Sen. Robert Cortis, R-13 Elyria, said it would create upper level education and business administration courses and provide bachelor's degrees.

The upper level courses would be offered if 1,000 full-time students attend the branch campus, if the Ohio Board of Regents rules there is a need within 30 miles of the branch, and if no other similar courses are taught at a state university within 30 miles.

The bill, according to Cortis, is aimed primarily at branches at Lima, Mansfield, and Zanesville. Only Lima would qualify for the program this year, with the other two being eligible in 1971.

State Finance Director Howard Collier told the committee that the cost of the bill would be "impossible to estimate." "It really becomes a value judgment," Collier said, "as to whether middle-size cities are entitled to limited added higher education. This bill fills in some of the blanks."

Ross Pepple also said Ohio State University's main campus in Columbus has paid as much as $25,000 per acre to expand. "We won't have to buy any land in Lima to expand for the next 75 years. We already have 640 acres for growth," he said.

The committee heard only favorable testimony in their first hearing on the bill. Further testimony has been scheduled.

Campaign To Get Blacks In Guard Fails

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A more than two-year-old National Guard campaign to enlist more blacks has failed completely so far, and the guard's chief says "I don't know why."

"This is one effort we have not been successful in," Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, National Guard bureau chief acknowledged in an interview.

"I can't get a handle on it—it's one of the most confusing problems I've ever faced."

The statistics show just how badly the effort has flopped. At the end of 1969, there were 5,487 blacks in the Army and Air National Guard—1.15 per cent of the 478,860 total.

Two years earlier, there actually were more black guardsmen—5,807. The black percentage was the same because the over-all size of the guard at the close of 1967 was greater—503,554.

Blacks represent about 11 per cent of the U.S. population. Wilson, who was credited with nudging holdout Southern units into integrating in 1964, said the guard put on "quite a push" after a presidential advisory committee on civil disorders urged increasing Negro recruitment.

State Plans To Open Crime Lab

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new scientific crime laboratory in Summit County will be operational within a month, Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said Tuesday.

er a presidential advisory committee on civil disorders urged increasing Negro recruitment.

The guard used a number of approaches to interest young blacks, including radio and TV advertising appeals, personal missionary work by black guard officers and seeking help from Negro organizations.

A special test recruitment program was conducted in New Jersey in 1969-1969 and resulted in a 700-man black increase in that one state.

The drive cost about $90,000 and was given impetus by a special authorization to recruit 5 per cent over normal state strength specifically for Negro slots.

But the guard was rejected when it tried to get authority from Congress for a nationwide over-strength allowance of 5,000 men. Some guard officials said Congress objected to "reverse discrimination."

The over-strength allotment was necessary, guard officials said, because the service has been at full authorized manpower levels since 1965 and there is a waiting list.

And, even the waiting list contains a disproportionate percentage of whites.

Of the 132,162 men on the waiting list as of Dec. 31, 1969 only 1,543 were blacks.

While Wilson says he is baffled why blacks do not show more interest in the guard, others say Negro youths are reluctant to join predominantly white organizations. Also, these sources say, most black youths feel Negroes carry a heavier burden than whites in the Vietnam war.

Guard officials also reported lack of response among blacks in a new recruiting drive aimed at persuading men who have seen active duty to enroll in the guard after returning to civilian life.

In Florida, for example, officials said they contacted some 900 black veterans but received only 40 replies.

Wilson says the guard is not going to give up, although the results have been so bad.

"We believe in it," Wilson said of the principle that blacks should be represented in the Guard close to their proportion of the total American population.

But he added: "We're still a volunteer force—you can't pull them in."

Following rendition of "Hosanna" by the choir at the United Methodist Church last Sunday, a special sermon "The New Commandment" was delivered by Rev. Carl Wetherell, commemorating Palm Sunday.

Baptism services were administered to two youngsters, James Albright II and Tony Alloy.

Receptionists at the door for Easter Sunday services will be Frank Kaufeld, Mack Drake, Omer Crego, William E. Millar and Robert Schebeck. In charge of the nursery will be Mrs. Miriam Crego and Karen Green. Here is the schedule for Holy Week:

On Maundy Thursday at 8 p.m. the Holy Communion; on Good Friday at 8 p.m. Good Friday Service; on Sunday Sunrise Service at 7 a.m.; Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. with Easter worship at 10:30 a.m.

On Thursday April 2, 12 noon to 1:30 p.m. "Big Bear Club" luncheon in the Fellowship Hall with Jerry Raso as Master of Ceremonies. Proceeds will go to our Women's organizations.

Mrs. Dorothy Beavers has been ill for the past several days at her home.

Mrs. Louise Ehmman has been a patient in Doctors Hospital North, following surgery for eye cataract.

Mrs. Ella Burgett of Thrailkill Road, widow of Thomas Burgett is a patient in Mt. Carmel Hospital for observation and treatment.

Mrs. Robert Layton of Orient, Route 1, is a patient in Mercy Hospital, Room 105 for treatment and observation. She was moved to the hospital on March 14 by the local emergency squad.

Mr. Ralph Ball of Obetz, father of Mrs. Virginia Goldhardt, is slowly recovering following surgery. He has been a patient since March 3.

Mr. Guy Gulick, who has been in intensive care at Mt. Carmel Hospital for the past several days, is showing improvement and has been moved to a semi-private room.

Mrs. Sophie (Hoover) McCoy of Lanham, Va., has been visiting with her brother, William E. Hoover and family, for the past three weeks and is returning to her home this week. Her husband Don McCoy, is employed by the Holiday House Club.

Mrs. Sandy Crego, accompanied by her husband Ross, left Sunday to reside at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. where her husband is now stationed.

The Mobile Unit of the State Employment service is visiting our town until Friday of this week.

Everything is in readiness for the Easter Egg Hunt this Sunday afternoon. A large crowd is expected, as has been the custom for the past several years. Meeting time is 3 p.m. in the center of the town. Come and bring the kids and have a great afternoon watching the fun. Over 300 children are expected.

Man Given Prison Term For Assault

NEW YORK (AP) — David Thomas, 34, was sentenced to 10 years in prison Tuesday for the rape of a 13-year-old runaway Ohio girl in the summer of 1968.

Thomas and his alleged accomplice Ronald Alfio, 27, were originally charged with murder and rape in connection with the death of Deborah Neill, of Vickery, Ohio, whose nude body was found outside a Greenwich Village apartment.

But the murder charges were dropped when the men agreed to plead guilty to rape. Alfio is awaiting sentencing on the rape count.

Police said it never was clear whether the girl was pushed from a fifth-floor apartment window or fell while trying to escape.

Thomas and Alfio were arrested after detectives found the young girl's crumpled body in an airshaft outside an apartment at 246 Mott St. on July 16, 1968.

Police said the girl had been lured to the apartment on the promise of some LSD, and once inside was threatened with an ice pick, beaten and raped repeatedly.

Ohio Fruehauf Plant Will Be Closed

DETROIT, (AP) — The Fruehauf Corp. announced Tuesday it will close its trailer and container manufacturing plant at Avon Lake, Ohio, about June 1. It said the plant did not lend itself to efficient operation.

The plant, built in the late 1940s and one of the largest trailer assembly plants in the country, employs 800 hourly rated workers and 200 in salaried classifications.

High Court Nixes Speed Law Case

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Kelsey Bartlett, of Wapakoneta, has lost his bid for a U.S. Supreme Court review of his speeding conviction in Auglaize County.

Bartlett, who had been fined $10 for traveling 80 in a 70 m.p.h. zone, contended the arresting officer had failed to allege a law violation, that the Auglaize Court's jurisdiction had not been revised after the 1960 census, and that the trial judge could not try him because he was not a candidate for re-election.

The Supreme Court dismissed the case Monday.

FBI Agents Arrest Chillicothe Escapees

CHICAGO (AP) — FBI agents have arrested two men who escaped from the Chillicothe (Ohio) Correctional Institute on July 10, 1969.

Curtis Donahue, 43, who had been serving time for armed robbery and John Barnett, 40, who was sentenced for life on a murder conviction, were charged with unlawful flight to avoid confinement.

Gary Player Set For Golf Tilt, But Avoids Politics

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
MIAMI (AP)—South African Gary Player reiterated his plea to take sports out of politics after a practice round prior to the start of the troubled National Airlines Open Golf Tournament.

"I don't hate anybody," the stocky little man said Tuesday. "I'm not a fighter. I'm a professional golfer."

Player, one of the favorites in the $200,000 event that begins Thursday, has been the target of endless questions concerning his country's national policy of apartheid since he arrived in the United States three weeks ago.

"I made a statement before I left South Africa," said Player, one of only four men to win all the world's major titles, "and you'll recall at that time I said I didn't want to say anything more about it."

"Sports should be above politics. It should be an area of international good will."

But he had an observation to make about the exclusion of South Africa from the international Davis Cup tennis tournament. South Africa recently refused permission to American Negro Arthur Ashe to compete there.

"I don't think you achieve anything by putting a country into isolation," Player said. "It's been pretty well proven that whatever South Africa does is wrong, anyway."

Player declined to say what his actions may be if he is the subject of demonstrations, such as the one that took place in Dayton at the PGA national championship last year.

"At the moment, I plan to play my usual schedule, 12 to 15 or 16 tournaments in two or three trips over here," he said.

Player missed the cut for the final two rounds at Jacksonville last week, the first time that has happened to him in two years. But Gary said he was playing well and was one of the top choices for the $40,000 first prize in this strike troubled tournament.

Scheduled national television coverage was cancelled in an effort to avoid demonstrations such as the ones that marred last year's tournament when the airlines was the subject of a wildcat walkout.

Members of a striking union which has idled the airlines this year picketed the entrance to the Country Club of Miami Tuesday, but no incidents were reported.

Asked if any unusual security precautions had been made, an airline spokesman replied: "None we're talking about. We'll take any precautions necessary."

Capital University Coach Will Retire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jack Landrum, Capital University track coach for 19 years and its football coach for nine seasons, announced Tuesday he will retire at the end of the current school year.

The 62-year-old Landrum's track teams compiled a 108-36-1 dual track meet record and his football teams were 43-32-4.

Hawks Ride Win Streak Into Playoffs

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Atlanta's red-hot Hawks go into tonight's National Basketball Association playoff contest riding a six-game winning streak and as decided favorites against the Chicago Bulls.

The Hawks' late-season spurt enabled them to win the West Division crown by two games over Los Angeles while the Bulls finished in a deadlock for third place with Phoenix. Chicago won a coin flip to decide the third spot with the Suns dropping to fourth and playing at Los Angeles tonight.

The East playoff begins tonight with fourth-place Philadelphia meeting the Lew Alcindor-led Milwaukee Bucks at Madison, Wis. The champion New York Knicks open at home Thursday against third-place Baltimore.

Atlanta's recent acquisition of center Walt Bellamy from Detroit helped the Hawks in their late surge. With Bellamy, the Hawks were 16-8 with a final record of 48-34. The 6-foot-11 "Bells" hit for a 15.5 scoring average and 13.5 rebounds a game.

Atlanta, coached by Richie Gin, however, has a full arsenal in addition to Bellamy. They include Lou Hudson, a 25.4 scorer, teaming with Walt Hazard in the backcourt along with forwards Bill Bridges, the fourth best rebounder in the league (14.4), and Joe Caldwell, a 21.1 scorer.

The Bulls retaliate with three 20-point plus scorers in Chet Walker, 21.5; Bob Love, 21.0 and Clem Haskins, 20.3.

The return of Wilt Chamberlain to go along with the league's top scorer Jerry West and perennial All-Star Elgin Baylor give the Lakers the edge in their best-of-7 series against Phoenix.

Going into the final round of the 1969 U.S. Open, Miller Barber led by three shots. Then he shot a 78 and finished in a three-way tie for sixth place, three strokes behind winner Orville Moody.

Rabbit Ball Out, But Homers Aren't Stopped

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Walt Alston's eyes fairly smile when he talks about the kid the Los Angeles Dodgers call Tarzan.

Before he was a Tarzan, however, Joe Ferguson was a Porky Pig, a member of the crew the Dodgers sent to the Winter Instructional League. When he returned he had disposed of 25 pounds and added the new nickname.

"He might be the darkhorse of the whole bunch," Alston explained. "He started out with us as an outfielder but now he's catching. He's got a lot of potential. There's always a guy you find at this time who looks good to you."

"But they're like looking at a young race horse. They do everything good, but you don't know when they're going to peak."

Ferguson, a strong 6-foot-2, 190-pounder who has shown some power in only two years of organized ball, is one of three rookies Alston hopes will peak this year. Bill Buckner, a first baseman-outfielder, and infielder Steve Garvey are the others. Buckner hit .307 at Albuquerque and .315 at Spokane last year while Garvey tagged the ball at a .373 clip in 83 games with Albuquerque, also displaying considerable power by slugging 14 homers and driving in 85 runs.

It's from the development of young prospects such as Ferguson Buckner and Garvey plus the availability of veterans Maury Wills and Manny Mota for the entire season that the Dodgers expect to make the improvement needed to challenge for the National League West title.

Wills and Mota came to the Dodgers in mid-season from Montreal. Wills stepped in at shortstop and solidified the infield. Mota played both the outfield and third base and supplied the Dodgers with a .322 bat.

Mota likely will join Garvey, veteran Jim Lefebvre and young Bill Russell, a light-hitting but sparkling fielder, in the sweepstakes at third base, where Bill Sudakis was the hope last year. Sudakis, however, now is a catcher.

The remainder of the infield seems set with Wes Parker at first, Rookie of the Year Ted Sizemore at second and Willis at short. The catching likely will be in the hands of veteran Tom Haller most of the time.

The outfield is a series of question-marks except for center field, where Willie Davis patrols. Davis suddenly caught fire late last year and started to spray his hits rather than concentrate on the long ball. He went on a 31-game hitting streak at the end of the season that made him a .311 hitter over-all.

The candidates to flank him include Russell, who played the outfield last year; Mota, Andy Kosco, Willie Crawford and Len Garbrielson.

The pitching is strong with a big three of Big Singer (20-12), Claude Osteen (20-15) and Don Sutton (17-18), but a fourth starter must be found. The Dodgers still feel the leading candidate is Alan Foster, a six-figure bonus baby in 1965 who hasn't made it yet.

Also listed among the main candidates are holdover Joe Moeller and Fred Norman, a 27-year-old left-hander who has had previous major league shots with Kansas City and the Chicago Cubs. He was 13-6 at Spokane last year with a 2.62 earned run average.

Alston is doing a considerable amount of experimenting this spring which he points out is the time to do it. He also admits there is more experimenting going on than usual—which tends to leave the Dodgers with quite a few "ifs."

In National League West, however, there does not seem to be a team without them. It would seem, therefore, that the Dodgers, like the others, will be capable of making a run at the title.

Wooden Confident UCLA Will Get Shot At 5th Title

By DAN BERGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA has won four consecutive national basketball titles. Will there be a fifth? Even with all the pressure that's been heaped on him, Coach John Wooden says he "wouldn't trade my chances for another title with anyone."

The Bruins lose only one player off the 1969-70 starting team—guard John Vallely. Returning are three strong, quick front line men and hot-shooting guard Henry Bibby.

"I'm sure glad it's over," remarked Wooden two days after his team captured the national title by beating Jacksonville 80-69.

Then someone reminded

Wooden that the whole thing—the search for another title—begins again very soon.

"I'm certainly glad it does," Wooden shot back.

"I'm looking forward to next season. With our four returning starters, if we can find an adequate replacement for Vallely, we'll have another fine team."

"But I don't have to remind you that this is an awfully difficult conference. If we can get through our conference into the regionals, I really think we'll be fortunate."

The latest championship squad was quite different from the three dominated by big Lew Alcindor. Wooden used Alcindor at the low post but went back to the style he likes best this season. He used 6-foot-8 Steve Patterson on the high post.

At one forward was 6-8 Sidney Wicks, an erratic, sometimes brilliant, sometimes goat-like sophomore two years ago who blossomed into an incredible defensive player. Wicks was named the outstanding player of the NCAA championship tournament after blocking five of 7-2 Artis Gilmore's shots.

The other forward was 6-6 Curtis Rowe, a soft-spoken junior who was not permitted by the coach to shoot from too far out.

"This team was a little easier to gauge mentally," Wooden says. "The teams with Lew, well... the time was so phlegmatic most of the time and you'd never really know if they were

Hoovers Down Circleville Oil For 'Y' Title

The Pickaway County YMCA Basketball Tournament which began February 15 ended Tuesday when Hoover & Son Team defeated last years winners and this seasons ABA League winners Circleville Oil, 83-72. This was the first game Circleville Oil has lost in YMCA League Tourney action since its existence beginning last year.

The winning Hoover & Son Team was led by Bob Hoover, Teays Valley High coach and former Morehead State University cage player with 38 points. Hoover was backed in scoring by Mike Seymour with 15 points.

Circleville Oil was led by Kelly Boyer, assistant coach at Circleville High School with 25 points. Frank Mace contributed 14 points and Ronnie Morris added 11.

Tournament trophies were presented to the winning Hoover & Son Team and runners up Circleville Oil.

YMCA Adult League play began November 30. Fourteen teams participated being divided into 2 leagues. Teams included eight teams from Du Pont, three from General Electric, Owens-Illinois, Hoover & Son, and Circleville Oil. Circleville Oil won The ABA League while Hoover & Son captured the NBA League.

Hoovers Down Circleville Oil For 'Y' Title

The Pickaway County YMCA Basketball Tournament which began February 15 ended Tuesday when Hoover & Son Team defeated last years winners and this seasons ABA League winners Circleville Oil, 83-72. This was the first game Circleville Oil has lost in YMCA League Tourney action since its existence beginning last year.

The winning Hoover & Son Team was led by Bob Hoover, Teays Valley High coach and former Morehead State University cage player with 38 points. Hoover was backed in scoring by Mike Seymour with 15 points.

Circleville Oil was led by Kelly Boyer, assistant coach at Circleville High School with 25 points. Frank Mace contributed 14 points and Ronnie Morris added 11.

Tournament trophies were presented to the winning Hoover & Son Team and runners up Circleville Oil.

YMCA Adult League play began November 30. Fourteen teams participated being divided into 2 leagues. Teams included eight teams from Du Pont, three from General Electric, Owens-Illinois, Hoover & Son, and Circleville Oil. Circleville Oil won The ABA League while Hoover & Son captured the NBA League.

CIRCLEVILLE OIL: Parker, 3-17; Eitel, 3-17; Mace, 6-2-14; Boyer, 11-3-25; Valentine, 2-0-5; Dultz, 1-2-4 Morris, 4-3-11. Totals, 30-15-72.

Pilots On Way To Milwaukee

SEATTLE (AP) — Unless someone comes up with an offer at least as good as one a Milwaukee group has made, the Seattle Pilots appear to be practically on their way to the Wisconsin city, a state official says. William Dwyer, special assistant state attorney general, made the statement Tuesday as the first part of a federal bankruptcy hearing concerning the Pilots' plight ended.

Dwyer said Sidney Volinn, federal bankruptcy referee, would sign an order Wednesday, when the hearing was to resume, lifting all restraints on the sale of the American League team to the Milwaukee group.

Volinn decided on the action, Dwyer said, so he can judge the merits of the sale at a hearing March 30.

At noon Tuesday another hearing in King County Superior Court on sale injunctions sought by the state, Seattle and Alfred Schewepe, Seattle lawyer who was recused pending the outcome of the hearing before Volinn.

The bankruptcy referee said during the hearing Tuesday that his first concern is for the Pilots organization, which put itself in his hands under the Federal Bankruptcy Act in a petition to A.S. District Court last week.

Although various arguments have been presented to keep the Pilots in Seattle, no one has offered a financial plan to support it, Volinn said, whereas the Milwaukee group already has agreed to buy the club for $10.8 million.

He said the deal could be closed April 30, and it would enable Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., owner of the Pilots to pay creditors.

"Every way we turn around," Volinn said, "we have a assured $10.8 million offer from Milwaukee. If we don't take that, we have nothing."

He stressed, however, that he was not, in effect, saying he will approve sale of the club to the Milwaukee group.

Volinn's action will not affect various damage suits against the league and the team—suits that total more than $82 million, Dwyer said.

Alfred Schewepe the Seattle lawyer whose court actions stopped the league from approving the franchise sale, said the league should be forced to fulfill its commitment to finance the team through the 1970 season.

Earlier in the hearing, Max Soriano, secretary-treasurer of the Pilots, testified the club is losing $12,500 a day.

Soriano said that, estimating conservatively, it would take $4.3 million to operate the Pilots through next Feb. 28. That would take into account a projected cash loss of $1.56 million for the coming season, he said.

The corporation has $91,000 in the bank, Soriano said, and the normal overhead is $250,000 a month, but the overhead now is $350,000 a month because of spring training.

"I don't think we could continue through the first month of the season," he said.

Soriano said he signed a contract March 8 to sell the franchise to Milwaukee Brewers Baseball Club Inc., pending lifting of legal restrictions.

He said the contract is binding, "and we are not in a position to make a sale to a third party."

Apparently that referred to testimony in a connected hearing in King County Superior Court by Dave Cohn, a Seattle businessman who said he could round up a group within 90 days to buy the franchise.

Oscar Robertson Ready To Leave Cincinnati Royals

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Robertson might have played his last game for the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association, but that doesn't mean he'll be playing next season in the rival American Basketball Association.

It was no secret that some months ago the ABA would have gone into a frenzy over the chance to land the Big O, one of the greatest basketball players of all time, but not now ABA commissioner Jack Dolph said from the other league while the merger talks are going on, Dolph revealed. "The same holds true of the NBA signing any of our players."

"The (Robertson's) lawyer has contacted the ABA, but we had to tell him we weren't interested. Of course, we'd certainly be interested in him if there was a merger and he wanted to deal with us, or if the merger talks fell through."

Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and Zelmo Beaty of Atlanta, both of the NBA, earlier were lured away by the ABA and are scheduled to join ABA teams next season. Rick Barry went to the ABA two years ago and Dave Bing of Detroit signed an ABA contract for the 1971-72 season.

The 31-year-old Robertson, an NBA All-Star for all of his 10 years in the league with Cincinnati, has become something of a problem for the Royals, who have made it clear they want to trade him for a big man.

"I've played my last game for Cincinnati," Robertson said after Saturday night's final game victory over the New York Knicks in New York.

"I want to play a few more years," Oscar said, and while he first didn't want to leave Cincinnati where he has long-time friends, a home and family and business, he now feels he has to leave. The problem is: Where can he go?

Bob Lanier An Instant Millionaire

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Lanier, an All-American collegian, becomes an instant millionaire at the age of 21 today by signing a $1.5-million contract to play professionally with the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

In doing so, Lanier passed up on offers of $2 million that had been offered him by the New York Nets of the rival American Basketball Association.

"Yes, I'll sleep tonight," the 6-foot-11, 265-pound center said on the eve of the contract-signing. "But I sure don't sleep the nights before our games."

Lanier, cagey until the last minute about saying whether he would go with the NBA or ABA, confirmed he would sign the Detroit contract only after the Pistons announced today's news conference.

The conference was in Buffalo General Hospital, where Lanier had been a patient since March 14. He was admitted that night hours after he tore ligaments in his right knee as his third-ranked St. Bonaventure team defeated Villanova in the NCAA Eastern Regional finals.

ready to play. But this team had as much electricity as any, although it sometimes wasn't as apparent.

Wicks was the key to the mental attitude of this team. In practice, he was lighthearted. He used a mock-serious stare at teammates he guarded in practice sessions and rarely made a spectacular play.

"Oh, but Sidney was really serious when the game started," Wooden said. The stare would turn into a frightening glower and even Sidney won't tell anybody if he's serious.

"It was a long, uphill climb," Wicks says of his progress from a part-time bench jockey into a nationally recognized star. "I didn't get acquainted to the system right away. In high school and junior college, the team revolved around me. I had to learn to work with a team."

At that, Wooden beams. It's his system to teach cohesiveness, though not necessarily to the subordination of the player himself. "It's not what the individual does — it's what the team does," Wooden said.

"I'll have to call you back, Igor. Something just came up."

If you can't leave something you're working on, why not put in an extension phone? It only costs a few cents a day. And it could keep something monstrous from happening.

Pilots On Way To Milwaukee

SEATTLE (AP) — Unless someone comes up with an offer at least as good as one a Milwaukee group has made, the Volinn decided on the action, Dwyer said, so he can judge the merits of the sale at a hearing March 30.

At noon Tuesday another hearing in King County Superior Court on sale injunctions sought by the state, Seattle and Alfred Schwegle, Seattle lawyer was recessed pending the outcome of the hearing before Volinn.

The bankruptcy referee said during the hearing Tuesday that his first concern is for the Pilots organization, which put itself in his hands under the Federal Bankruptcy Act in a petition to A.S. District Court last week.

Although various arguments have been presented to keep the Pilots in Seattle, no one has offered a financial plan to support it, Volinn said, whereas the Milwaukee group already has agreed to buy the club for $10.8 million.

million installment will have to be carved out of other programs in his current budget.

"Communities desegregating their schools have special needs—for classrooms, facilities, teachers, teacher training—and the nation should help meet those needs," Nixon said.

"The nation also has a vital and special stake in upgrading education where de facto segregation persists, and where extra efforts are needed if the schools are to do their job."

He said his proposal "represents a heightened priority for making school desegregation work, and for helping the victims of racial isolation learn."

While that phase of his proposal goes to Congress, the policy judgment will shape lawsuits filed by the Department of Justice, and desegregation enforcement decisions by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., applauded Nixon's decision to spend more money on education itself, not on "busing, not any of those fancy frills."

"The President has affirmed the existence of segregation throughout the land and indicated his intent to deal with it on a uniform basis," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

If you're determined that your daughter wear good shoes whether she likes it or not, we've found a way to make her like it.

She doesn't care how good a shoe is as long as it looks good.

(For her, we have StrideRites with buckles, chains and groovy styling.)

But your concern is quality construction. And fit.

(To please you, these StrideRites are made with top-grade leather and fully lined. And we check the fit in eight critical places.)

It happens that the StrideRites your daughter wants are the same ones you want her to have.

See us. And make both of you happy.
